HIGH SCHOOL OPENS ROOM TO RADIO CLUB STARTED BY GLENDALE DAILY PRESS

Big Demonstration at First Session Thursday Shows Trustees Need of Affording Class Rooms
for Study of New Development

TEXT BOOKS TO BE PROVIDED BY TRUSTEES
Code Students Will Be Accommodated at the Press Building; Seven Phones Have Been Secured
and More Ordered for Practice

The Glendale Daily Press radio school will be held hereafter in the high school. Enrollment may be made there tonight and next Tuesday. Classes will meet at 7:30 and 8:30.

Such is the prompt response of the board of trustees of the high school to the display of interest in radio afforded by the Press.

Text books and equipment will be purchased by the high school. Code classes will be held in the Glendale Daily Press building, but the theory will be taught in the high school where enrollment will be received.

Due to the turnout of Glendale
people to join our school classes
and radio club, it was necessary to obtain larger quarters, and as such a case the classes in theory, starting tonight, will be held in the rooms of the high school. The high school will furnish the text books, which will be obtained as soon as possible after due consideration as to which book shall be adopted to serve the beginners and those somewhat advanced, to the best advantage.

To date we have secured seven phones for the purpose of code
practice and more are ordered.
The first code class will take place
next Wednesday evening, and further notification as to where it will be held will be given through the columns of the Glendale Daily Press.

Any items of interest in the radio field which the members may read or have read will be greatly appreciated in a copy may be had, so that it may be read to the entire class.

New members will be taken in
at any and all of the classes in the future. For the benefit of those who do not know where the high school is located it is on the corner of Harvard and Louise streets.

H. E. Hewitt, who has charge of the publicity for the bonds, has placed stereoscopic slides in both theatres, and William Howe of the Glendale theatre has kindly agreed to place slips containing detailed information concerning the bond issue in his theatre programs, thereby reaching 5000 homes in Glendale.

In speaking on this bond proposition this morning, Dr. Russell said:

"We must all do our best for the voting of these bonds. This is one of the most important elections to be held in Glendale for years and we must have an overwhelming majority for the bonds.

"While no opposition to the bonds is apparent at this time,
nevertheless apathy might easily result in a very light vote being polled. A two-thirds vote is essential to carry the bonds. The larger the majority the greater the boost for Glendale. This would show the world the interest the residents of Glendale have in the educational facilities."

Committees appointed to boost for these bonds, other than those already mentioned, are as follows:

San Fernando Boulevard Improvement Association committee—
William Griffin, Rohn Johnson,
Mrs. Geraldine E. Binns, A. M.
Salter, Arthur L. Colgate and H. V.
Johnson. This committee will have charge of the work west of a point
two blocks east of the San Fernando road.

The Grand View district will be taken care of by a committee consisting of Alex Mitchell, Charles H. Hall, David Black, Mr. Huntington and Mr. Botsford.

Casa Verdugo section will be handled by Mrs. Elliott Wymore, Mrs. Barton, and members of the Doran, Central and Columbus Parent-Teachers' association.

Mabel L. Ticht and her committee will take care of the territory eastward from a point four blocks
west of Glendale avenue.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs.
Eva Daniels, Mrs. Marcelle Wilson and Mrs. E. V. Bacon, will assist on the telephone committee.

S. C. Packer has been appointed chairman of the automobile committee, and he is doing effective work in lining up the automobile men in favor of the bonds.

Following are a few of the progressive citizens of Glendale who have offered to assist in favor of the bonds on Election day: P. J.
Hayesdon, Fred McIntyre, Mr.
Sauter, Mr. Perch, C. W. Ingledue,
Dr. H. R. Harrower, Mrs. Moberley,
Mrs. Jepson and Mrs. Bowles.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT
CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., April

Federal Judge George W. McGlinch here today to secure a preliminary injunction restraining the miners' union from organizing the New River and Kanawha fields and the McKell interests in the New River District. A decision was not expected until late today.

HOW THE HOMES OF GLENDAL'S BUDDIES WILL LOOK ON THE LOTS AT LA CRESCENTA

Drawing by George M. Lindsey, Architect

The Electrical Workers' Union of Glendale
swung into the army of unfortunates back of the Buddies' Homes movement yesterday, through the action of its members at an informal meeting. Thus that work is covered.

Offers of assistance for the building of the Five Buddies' homes at La Crescenta are still reaching the Glendale Daily Press, together with comment upon its announcements of volunteer aid that has been extended.

"I am volunteering material and labor," explained Edward Phipps, drainboard contractor, "not labor alone. If I do anything I want to do it right.
I want to pay my own costs on a job like this."

Friends called attention to the fact that Jesse
O. Stine volunteered to plaster the houses. Everyone knows he is not a cement contractor.

The cement work, two laborers, without cost,
is to be done by R. J. East, the cement contractor,
which was not stated in the summary yesterday.

The following letter speaks
for itself:

Glendale Daily Press: Appreciating your kindly efforts in behalf of the soldier boys who want to remain here and build their homes, I will offer my services any Sunday as a painter or carpenter's helper. I am a member of painters' local No.
1062 of Los Angeles and as there is a painter's local here in Glendale, perhaps some of the boys will join, too.

Yours,
CHARLES N. DENNEY, 1411 South Central avenue,
Glendale.

THE RED CARD

The red card will be in the windows of the leading merchants today, shown with honor and enterprise.

The red card today will have a new meaning, for not today is it the symbol of the I. W. W., for it will spell I Will Work for the building of the homes of our five buddies of Glendale.

It is the beginning of the days of the people of Glendale in the crystallizing of the little homes in La Crescenta. All such movements are up to the people to cast the deciding vote of popularity.

If the merchants who have ventured with the Glendale Daily Press and the unions of the city do not receive the patronage they are entitled by all the precedence of Glendale's past record, then it is unlikely that they will tread this path of enterprise again.

So, if you have things to buy, look at the sales directory printed in another column in the Glendale Daily Press today, study the issue of Friday, select from among them the stores you will deal with in the next few days.

In the sales directory you will find just what is offered especially for your attention.

These goods are the messengers of your patriotism
to the Five Buddies. When you have bought them, they will disappear from the counters and their absence will mark your appearance in the movement. If you believe, express it in a buy for the fund.

SALES WHERE SIGNS APPEAR IN WINDOWS

List of Merchants Who Are Giving Percentages of Business on Various Days to the Building Fund for the Soldier Boys

Beginning today, hundreds of people of Glendale and vicinity will be watching for the Red Placard Cards in the windows of local merchants who are to put on special sales and give a percentage for the benefit of the fund to build a home for a disabled Buddy.

The special edition of the Glendale Daily Press yesterday contained the advertisements of many merchants who are willing to aid in this good work, and each issue of the Daily Press for the next several days will give other merchants whose advertising will specify the particular day special sales will be put on for the Buddies' Building Fund.

Owing to the fact that several merchants are now running sales it was impossible for them to make a definite announcement in yesterday's edition as to the date of their sale. But these sales will come thick and fast, and the Daily Press urges its readers to watch for the advertisements in each issue of the paper and to give the merchants a liberal patronage during these sales. All percentage money from sales will be turned over to Delos
A. Smith, manager of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank, on Brand boulevard and will be used to swell the fund for the Buddies' Building fund.

Yesterday the Daily Press gave twenty-five percent of its special advertising to this fund, and from present indications the entire amount needed
to finish the building of five homes for the Buddies will be raised by the latter part of next week thru sales of the merchants and otherwise.

"This is certainly one of the most laudable efforts I have ever seen a newspaper put forth in helping the boys who really want a home, where they may recover from the awful effects of war, and I am satisfied every red blooded American will lend a helping hand," said a prominent business man to a Daily Press reporter last night. "I am

NEW INDUSTRY TO OPEN IN THIS CITY

International Chemical Company Announces
Plans for Plant Here

The International Chemical Co.
is the newest industry to seek Glendale through the chamber of commerce. It has bought land near Colorado street and San Fernando road and will break ground Monday.

The company will manufacture instantaneous dyeing ink in all colors. It is a quarter-million dollars corporation. Other products will be auto pep, for the increasing of mileage; springs for automobiles, an oil, furniture and auto polish, and several other formulas at present withheld.

The company is headed by E. O.
Fitz, president, an old-time banker and lumberman, who resides at 308 North Louise; G. W. Strang, vice president and general manager, who lives in Tujunga but who will move to Glendale on May 10; the treasurer is R. F.
Fitz, also assistant manager, who lives at 210 West Windsor road,
the secretary and attorney is G.
H. Shellenbarger, who lives in Los Angeles.

The board of directors includes
G. H. Shellenbarger, G. W. Strang,
R. F. Fitz, A. G. Munn, Mr. Pop-
perman of San Fernando, H. C.
Hatterschield and E. O. Fitz.

Among the stockholders are Harry Chandler, owner of the Los Angeles Times, A. L. Funk of Tulsa, Okla., and Fred G. Kellogg, president of the Richfield Oil company.

The first building of this company will cost $10,000. The unit, with a capacity of five mills, will be started now. The payroll will start with 50 men, running three shifts. June 1 will see the company operating.

Strang and E. O. Fitz will start for New York May 10 to buy machinery.

The land was purchased through Roy L. Keny Co., which also has a construction contract.

CALL FOR TROOPS

SALT LAKE CITY, April 29.—
Acting Governor Crockett received a wire from the commissioners of Carbon county today stating that troops were badly needed at Scofield and Helper, scenes of mine disturbances yesterday. The situation in the mining camp is beyond the control of county officers and only the arrival of militia can save loss of life and destruction of property, the message read.

Members of the Shrine club of Glendale have been made happy
by the receipt of an announcement that the organization will enjoy the kind of a program next Wednesday evening that will give a hilarious time to everybody in attendance. Admission will be by membership card, or by the presentation of the 1922 A. O. N. M. S., and $1.25.

Members who have not returned the questionnaires recently sent out are requested to fill out and forward at once to F. R. Gartley, secretary.

NEW CADILLAC MASTER CAR GETS GLENDALE OWNER

OLDSMOBILES ROLL OUT OF DEALER'S SHOWROOM

No Reason to Complain Says J. C. Pollock as Cars Go

"Things are moving right along," said J. C. Pollock of the J. C. Pollock company, Oldsmobile dealers, 208 West Broadway, this morning. "There have been times, of course, when business was better, but everything considered we have no reason for complaint. It seems the people of Glendale have come to realize the full worth of the Oldsmobile and that, realizing this, they are taking advantage of this knowledge, but making themselves possessors of one of these remarkable machines."

This firm delivered this week to Wallace Robinson, 212 West Colorado street, a Model 43, four-cylinder California Top Oldsmobile. Mr. Robinson is more than pleased with his new purchase and states that it more than comes up to expectations.

AUTO CLUB TO MAKE DESERT SAFE

Crew of Pioneers Report Progress in Their Undertaking

Returning from an exhausting plunge into the wilds of Death valley in search of the old Mormon trail and the famous lost wagons of the early pioneers, a crew of the Automobile Club of Southern California reports that preparations have been completed to make the desert safe for motorists.

Difficulties almost beyond belief were overcome by the club representatives in their endeavor to penetrate the desert to the north of the fatal valley. At one point it was necessary to hire horses to drag the car through a body of water known as Maynard Lake.

Emigrant Gap, that famous passage-way through which some of the early wagon trains found their way to California from Utah was negotiated without difficulty, as was Red Rock canyon. In this vicinity, charting notes of all water-holes were taken.

The Auto club is now preparing metal signs which will be used to mark the roads and water-holes of the desert, so that motorists can find the "lost" regions without danger.

Good news for those who wish to visit the ghost cities of the west, those abandoned towns of the gold rush in Nevada is contained in the club's announcement just made that a comprehensive map of that territory is being drafted. Some of these ghostly ruins include Bullfrog, Ballarat and Rhyolite.

The streets of these towns were once trod by thousands of gold-mad folk, and now they are deserted, the fine buildings falling to ruins and the pavement crumbling under foot. Occasionally a lone and decadent prospector is encountered, hoping against hope that he may be the one to find the lost lodes and to wallow in wealth during his declining years.

The doctor examined the patient and then, turning to the man's wife, said:

"Now, be sure to give him only as much of this powder as will cover sixpence."

Next morning the doctor returned, to find the patient much worse. "Did you give him the powder?" he asked anxiously.

"Oh, yes. But I hadn't enough, doctor."

"Enough?" gasped the doctor.

"No," said the woman, meekly. "I only had sufficient to cover fivepence."

A good many bachelors are wearing socks with peckaboo toes and heels.

Delos H. Smith, one of the leading bankers in Glendale and manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank, has just received the beautiful Cadillac Suburban car, which he purchased through the Court Motor company, 223 South Brand boulevard, Cadillac dealer for the San Fernando valley. This car was delivered to Mr. Smith on Thursday of this week, since which time he has been proudly exhibiting it to his many friends.

"I have been driving a Cadillac car for the past eighteen years," said Mr. Smith this morning, "but this is the most wonderful machine I have ever owned. I am more than pleased with it and would recommend it to anyone who wants a real automobile."

Everyone knows the value of the Cadillac automobile. The success attained during the early years of Cadillac history is indicated by the following achievements:

First to produce a standardized car—a car in which all parts of a kind are like other parts of the same kind.

First to produce a truly high

TOUR SOUTHWEST THROUGH DEATH VALLEY

Report of a Trip Across the Panamint and Funeral Ridge

The following is a report of trip made by O. W. Lewis, R. J. Behan and Ernest McGaffey through a portion of the desert country of the Southwest including the roads across Death Valley, the Panamint valley and the Funeral ridge.

LOS ANGELES TO COSO HOT SPRINGS: The road is now entirely paved from Los Angeles to Mojave by way of the San Fernando boulevard, Saugus, Mint Canyon and Lancaster with the exception of a stretch of dirt road 3500 feet in length near Gloster, just north of Rosamond, and the last 2 miles into Mojave. From Mojave north, the road is in excellent condition through the Owens River valley to Little Lake by way of Glass Lake and Red Rock canyon. At a point 3.2 miles north of Little Lake, the main road leading to the right to Coso Hot Springs is encountered, indicated by a large sign erected by the proprietor of the Resort. It is a distance of 10 miles from this main junction to Coso Hot Springs. Excellent accommodations and meals can be secured at the resort. The mineral waters and mud baths are very beneficial for those afflicted with rheumatism, ailments of the stomach, kidneys and liver, and as a place of rest and quiet, Coso Hot Springs is unexcelled. The place holds much of interest to the visitor, especially the brilliant colored mud springs which are very similar to the famous "Paint Pots" of the Yellowstone National Park.

From Coso Hot Springs, we retraced to the main road above Little Lake and continued north through the Owens river valley to Olancha. At this point, we left the main road and proceeded to Lone Pine via Keeler. The road between Olancha and Keeler is very sandy and would be almost impassable in hot weather. The Ford cars or other machines equipped with narrow tires. The road from Little Lake to Keeler is good and free from sand. Conditions are excellent from Lone Pine north through the Valley to Bishop.

LONE PINE TO DARWIN: Leaving Lone Pine, we retraced to Keeler, then followed in a direct line east to Darwin. It is a distance of 23 miles from Keeler to Darwin and while the road offers slow going on account of cross washes and long sloping grades it is easy to travel.

DARWIN TO BALLARAT: No one should attempt this trip without first gaining authentic information about the location of the route and the country passed through—and surely, not without first obtaining ample supplies including gas and water as the road passes through a very sparsely settled and desolate desert country. Immediately upon leaving Darwin, there are a number of exceedingly steep, narrow and rocky grades, leading to a canyon then following to the Panamint valley. The road enters the west side of the Panamint valley through this very narrow canyon, then crosses the valley intersecting with the Wildrose Canyon road and continues south

AUTO CLUB SAVED $1,689,277 TO MOTORISTS

Result of Non-profit-making Insurance Department

Motorists can enjoy a grand and glorious feeling today when they learn that they have been saved $1,689,277—according to a report just issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

This saving has affected thousands of auto owners in the southern part of the state who have insured their cars with the non-profit-making insurance department of the auto club, and it makes history in America.

It is pointed out by club officials that when the Auto club decided to provide insurance at cost to its members there was no definite idea that the scheme would have wide-spread acceptance. It is only in the last few years that it has become vastly popular and has been emulated all over the United States by other motoring organizations.

According to the report it is shown that more than half a million dollars or $519,642 to be exact, was saved motorists by this activity in 1921. That this figure will be largely increased is expected this year.

The year previous, saving totaled $280,584, which shows the annual increase in the insurance work. Motorists who have provided this type of service for the public hereabouts are enjoying all the thrills of philanthropy.

In return premiums alone last year, motorists received $143,517. This is considered a marvelous record by prominent insurance officials throughout the state. In fact, the club has been able to maintain a very low rate of insurance, it is pointed out, because of the lack of expense and the fact that no profits are made by the club, this being returned to the insured at the expiration of the policy.

merge about 16 miles west of Caliente and are in good condition. CALIENTE NORTH TO PIOTCHE: This road generally follows a branch of the Union Pacific Railroad and is good at all seasons of the year with the exception of crossing a high summit upon entering the city of Pioche. Accommodations, meals and supplies obtainable at Caliente and Pioche. On weather conditions at and west of Pioche, we were compelled to return to Las Vegas via Alamo and the Corn Creek road—driving from Las Vegas to Los Angeles via the Arrowhead and Santa Fe Trails.

BALLARAT TO TRONA: Distance 28 miles. This is good desert road all the way with one steep and rocky grade over the Slate range.

BALLARAT TO DEATH VALLEY: Via Wildrose Canyon and Emigrant Pass—68 miles. No one should now attempt to drive this route with an automobile as the road-bed from the summit of Emigrant Pass to the floor of the valley has been completely demolished by floods and storms which occurred in that vicinity last fall and winter. There are not even tracks which one can follow from the summit of the Pass down to the floor of the Valley and it is possible to make the trip only by picking out and following the line of least resistance.

With the aid of a government topographical map and with previous experience with that section of the country, we made the trip safely, but not without difficulty as for a distance of about 20 miles we had to follow through and across washes and for many hundreds of feet, removed large rocks to clear a path for the car. We finally reached the floor of Death Valley at a point 5 miles west of Stove Pipe Wells. Here we encountered an old sign which pointed directly east to Stove Pipe Wells, giving the distance as 5 miles and another sign pointing south and east to Salt Creek Wells, distance 8 miles. Between this sign and Stove Pipe Wells, the route leads through a range of sand hills and dunes.

We attempted to cover this portion of the trip but were successful for only 2.9 miles from the sign. At this point, we encountered a large sand crater or pocket formed by recent sand storms and were unable to proceed further and complete our journey to Stove Pipe Wells. By letting the air out of our tires and with the aid of a shovel and canvas strips we managed to fight our way back to the sign again. Recent sand storms in that section have completely demolished the tracks which constitute a route across the sand hills and down to Salt Creek Wells. From the sign, we started for Salt Creek Wells, a distance of 8 miles and after two hours drive over deep ditches and cross-mashes and through heavy sand, we arrived at Salt Creek and made camp.

MOAPA TO ALAMO: Distance 68 miles. At the present time, this road is impassable and will remain so until a new road has been built around the Maynard Lake. Dam, located 20 miles south of Alamo. The water in the dam has risen over the road-bed and the water is too deep to allow even a team to pull a car through with safety. A new road around Maynard Lake will have to be built or the water in the dam will have to recede before travel can again use this route. Accommodations, gas and oil can be secured at Alamo. In the meantime, all travel between Las Vegas and Alamo will have to use the route by way of Corn Creek which is passable only in dry weather because of the fact that it crosses a dry lake around which no high line road for wet weather conditions has been provided.

ALAMO TO PIOTCHE VIA CALIENTE: One can either go from Alamo, Crystal Springs or Hiko east to Caliente. All three routes

Fishing Time Is Coming Sings Poet at the Wheel With Gas in the Tank

Whenever fishin' time comes 'round,
I get to feelin' blue.
A voice keeps callin' me away,
Just like it used to do,
When I was just a barefoot kid
And ne'er a worry knew.

An' pretty soon of days gone by
I set right there an' dream;
My work piles up a mountain high,
The days near endless seem;
I lock the door an' grab my rod
An' beat it to the stream.
Listen, fellers, fishin' season opens Monday.
Do you know what that means? Are you a fan—a fishing fan, or are you satisfied to labor year in and year

out with never a thought for anything but the "great big iron men"? There really are men who do not hear that springtime call—that voice that comes at the busiest moments in the office, when the work is coming thick and fast and when there are big questions to be decided. It is between these items of business that the angler gets just a glimpse of a babbling brook, or a stream way up among the hills, the tips of which are sometimes capped with white. These little glimpses come unheralded. Possibly it is a word or an expression of a business associate that brings the "little dream," or it may be a sentence in the business letter; or possibly the visions may come as the tired business man backs up for another start at some gigantic transaction. It matters not how or when they come, the angler recognizes in them a call to the hills, an appeal of the wild, a chance to get away from the grind of the modern business life.

The trip suggestion of the Glendale Press with this week is keeping with this call to the hills—to the open road—to the haunts of the wary trout. This suggestion will take the motorist into the various canyons and will impart the latest information with regard to fishing conditions at the most popular fishing streams of this section. It will endeavor to guide the motorist-angler to the place where he will be sure to get trout—the object of his search.

First we'll take a look at the streams close to home. One of the closest to Glendale is the San Gabriel. This stream is stocked yearly by the government and at the opening of each season is visited by hundreds of anglers. To reach this stream go to and through Pasadena and out over the foothill boulevard to Azusa, at which place turn left and follow the road that leads up into the San Gabriel canyon. There is a road running up this valley for a distance of about ten miles. The motorist can go as far up this road as he desires or he may stop at any point along the road, where he may park his machine at one of the camping places. Each year there are many trout taken close to the auto bridge at the mouth of the canyon. Salmon eggs are the best bait for the San Gabriel.

Then there is the Big Tujunga. This is a stream that is visited by practically few anglers, but it is one of the easiest streams in this section to fish. Go north on Glendale avenue to Verdugo road and continue up that highway to Montrose, La Crescenta, Sunland and on to Tujunga, from which place go north and continue up to the stream. There is no road up this canyon after the first stream crossing has been reached and most motorists park somewhere this side of this crossing. They then continue up the stream on foot as far as is desired. There are many little pools along this stream and from these the angler should be able to pick a number of the "wary little critters."

The lower Sespe will doubtless come in for considerable attention this year as it has each year in the past. Last year the writer spent the first day on this stream and he had some excellent fishing. There were many limits caught and some good sized fish taken. To reach this stream go north up the San Fernando boulevard to and through Burbank and San Fernando, and continue on over the "pass" to Newhall and Saugus. Turn left at Saugus and continue as though going over the Ridge, but turn left on the road which parallels the railroad and continue on this Saugus-Ventura road to Fillmore. Pass through this place, and continue west to the big bridge a short distance past which the sign at the right side of the road will direct the motorist to the right. Follow the road up the valley or canyon as far as is desired. For a couple of miles walnut and apricot groves will be passed, but the canyon narrows abruptly and a one-machine road, with frequent turn-outs, continues up the canyon. The motorist may camp anywhere along this stream. Last year limits were caught at all parts of this river. There are few camping points north of where the one-machine road begins.

The Piru creek, also crossed by this Saugus-Ventura highway, which is now in excellent shape, is reported a fairly good fishing ground.

The Ventura river is also visited by a large number of the anglers on Southern California every "open day." To reach this river the Glendale angler may take three routes. One is the coast route known as Ventura highway, through Calabassas, etc.; another is via, San Fernando Chatsworth, Santa Susana Simi, Moorpark, Satcoy, etc., while the third is via the Saugus-Ventura highway. From Ventura turn north at the Mission oil station and continue up a paved boulevard as far as desired. There are all kinds of camping places along this river.

The Upper Sespe, although hard to get to, is one of the favorite fishing grounds of some enthusiastic anglers of Glendale. To reach this stream go to Ventura, thence to Nordroff and up to Wheeler's Springs. Leave the machine at these springs and pack over the hill to the Upper Sespe. It is a drag of about eight miles, all of which is pretty hard going. It would hardly pay the angler to make this trip unless he is going to stay two or three days on the other side of the hill.

The Malibu creek is also another favorite stamping ground of some of the fishermen of Southern California. This is a privately owned stream and charges of $1 a pole a day for fishing and $1.50 per day for camping privileges are made. Usually the fishing in this stream is very good, the fish are of good size and the stream is ideal to fish, with many large, deep holes. To reach this stream go west from Universal City on Ventura highway to and through Calabassas, about two miles beyond which place a sign will direct the motorist to the left through a field. At this point is a sign marked "Castle Crag." Follow this road and go past the Castle Crag country club road, and continue to the end of the road, where there is a large farm house. The fellow at this house will relieve you of the money and assign you a camping place.

The San Bernardino streams and lakes should not be overlooked. Little and Big Bear lakes on the Rim of the World will be visited, opening day, by hundreds of motorist-anglers of Southern California. Little Bear is reached via Waterman Canyon from San Bernardino, while the only way to get into Big Bear lake now is via the Victorville road, and the Cushman grade. Quite a number of the resorts on Big Bear will be opened for the beginning of the season and will remain open throughout the year.

There are a number of streams in the region of Big Bear Lake that are worthy of consideration, one of the best of which is Big Bear creek. This stream is very hard to fish on account of the brush and growth along its sides, but the angler is well repaid for his trouble by the large beauties that are taken.

There are a number of smaller streams that might be mentioned, but the foregoing will probably be sufficient to furnish the angler plenty of exercise.

Now for the fishing. Those who go out on the first day of the coming season must not be surprised if they come back empty handed. With regard to the quality of the fishing there are conflicting reports. Some say that the water is too high and that the streams are too muddy, others say that the fishing will be good. The fellow who goes out will have to take "pot luck." It might be well to go out Saturday night and remain over Sunday; so that if there are no fish the camper will at least have a good outing.

So here's luck. Hit 'em hard, and may you have the very best of "fisherman's luck."

CAMPING SEASON CALLS FOR AUTO SUPPLIES

Monarch Supply Company Is Ready to Aid in Selection

"Camping season is here," said Mr. Butts of the Monarch Auto Supply company, 121 South Brand boulevard, "and there are a large number of the motorists of Glendale who are planning to spend at least a part of the summer in the hills. From the inquiries we are receiving at this time it would seem that more people are planning to spend their vacations in the mountains this season than ever before. Some of them are going for a week or two, while others are planning to spend a month or two in the wilds. Many are going to take regular touring trips. Frisco, Tahoe, Yosemite, and other places quite a distance from Glendale.

"There are quite a few motorists in Glendale who have cabins in the mountains located within a hundred miles from Los Angeles. These people are planning to spend many of their week-ends in these little hideouts. These folks find that the hills furnish the 'come back' stuff in large quantities.

"In our store the motorist will find everything he may need for the camping trip. We have tents, camping outfits, cots, stools, stoves, in fact, everything that the camper needs except the 'grub.' We are headquarters for camping information.

"The Ford owners of Glendale are availing themselves of the opportunity of securing genuine Ford parts at our store. Our sale of these genuine parts has grown wonderfully during the past few weeks, and the prospects for a continued growth are exceedingly bright."

BACALAUREATE AT ADVENTIST CHURCH

Today at the Seventh Day Adventist church at the morning service, a bacalaureate address will be delivered by Elder J. E. Fulton, president of the Pacific Union conference, to the graduates of the parish school who will have commencement next week.

LOCAL CAFETERIA CHANGES NAME

On account of the name, Puss Boots being copyrighted by a Seattle firm several years ago, it has been necessary for the local Puss 'N' Boots Cafe, 211½ South Brand boulevard, to change its name. In the future this cafe will be known under the name of H. Clinton Cafe and Confectionery.

The fact that his supposedly adored big brother was returning home from college that day had been carefully concealed from ten-year-old Tommy until he came back from school.

"Tommy," said his mother, after her younger son had gone upstairs to wash his face and the elder had been concealed in the pantry, "I have a big surprise for you.

"I know what it is," Tommy replied unconcernedly. "Brother's back."

"Why, how did you guess that?" "Cause my bank won't rattle any more."

SHOPPING AT HOME ON MOTOR ROW IN GLENDALE

Things You Need Can Be Had in Your Home Town

Shop at home! There is no suburban city in the United States the size of Glendale that has such wonderful business establishments as are to be found here. This is taking in quite a lot of territory, but a "round of the shops" in Glendale will show this to be a fact. This superiority in merchandizing places does not maintain along any one line, for every thing in a merchandizing way is well represented here with up-to-the-minute stores.

The prices that prevail in Glendale compare favorably with those charged anywhere in the country. The prices on some articles may be a little higher, but there are many things on which the prices are down. The service that is procurable in Glendale is of the finest, and it does not take half the time to do a given amount of shopping in Glendale that is consumed in Los Angeles, not to mention the time it takes to go to and from Los Angeles and the added expense to make the trip.

Barton Brothers' Garage
On account of increased business the Barton Brothers' garage is now moving to its new and larger establishment at 510 East Broadway. This concern occupied its old place of business at 212 West Broadway for nine years. The excellent work done and the courteous treatment afforded the patrons of this concern has won won for it a host of friends.

The Sale Continues
The big sale that has been in progress at the McGee Dry Goods store, 614 East Broadway for the past few days, is still in progress. Many wonderful bargains are being offered in this sale, these including dry goods, shoes, etc. Mr. McGee is more than pleased with the response he is receiving to his sale notices for the people of Glendale are availing themselves very generously of the numerous bargains offered.

Listen—Radio Fans
A storage radio "B" battery has been announced by the Willard Storage Battery company, the local agent for this battery being the Cizek Auto Electric company, corner Colorado and Brand. The quiet "B" battery is being received by the million or more radio fans in this country with open arms. Too many have overhauled their receiving sets in the quest for the "noise" and finally have found the slowly polarizing dry cells they were using on the plate circuit. The low demand for current with the phone makes seldom recharging of this battery necessary.

Dr. E. L. Smith
"Chevrolet" Smith, whose temporary quarters are located at the Standard garage, corner Kenwood and Broadway, says that the people are preparing for the outing and camping season so far as the purchasing of automobiles is concerned. A large number of new cars have been received by Mr. Smith during the past few days and already most of these have been delivered to customers. A number of the others have already been disposed of. Business was never better, said this live wire Chevrolet man this morning.

Why Not "Retire"?
William Hooper, the tire man of 222 East Broadway, is putting a lot of tires on the automobiles of Glendale preparatory to the fishing and camping season. He handles the Kelly-Springfield and the Miller (geared to the road) tires, both of which are of strictly standard makes. With these tires in fairly good condition there is absolutely no danger of a blowout in the mountains, hundreds of miles from home. They always bring you back. Hooper also handles the Vestabattery, the little concentrated bunch of electricity that is surely hard to beat.

Clean Up the Bus
"After the trip to the hills, clean up the car," said the manager of the Glendale Wash Rack, Wilson and Brand, this morning. "The machine is bound to get all 'mussed up' during the trip to the hills, and the wise owner will lose no time in having his machine cleaned and polished. Simonizing will do a great deal toward retaining the high gloss, which is so desirable."

The New Oakland's a Bird
There is something about the new Oakland 6-44 that is bound to appeal to the automobile buyer. Perhaps it is the attractive body lines, or the smooth-running qualities of the motor, or perhaps it is the extreme comfort of the car in general. It is a car with a 15,000 miles guarantee, and it has the overhead valve system, that is such an important feature. Green & McClellan, 115 West Harvard, are Glendale agents for this car.

The Exide for Power
The boys at the Autocentric Service Company, 113 West Harvard, know a battery when they see it, and they know how to repair it, too. In fact, they know every battery both inside and out and know when it should be given attention and just how to administer that little service. This company is local agent for the Exide—the battery of power—a battery which retains its power to the very last minute and which gives unstintingly all the time.

Maryland Garage for Service
Then there is the Maryland garage, 125 North Maryland avenue, which, although a new concern in Glendale, is right on its toes and is doing business every minute. This garage is making a specialty of storage, and is offering to the motorists of Glendale a fire-proof garage, which in appointments is right up to the minute. The finest of automobile repair work is done by this concern and everything in connection with the electrical part of the machine is taken care of.

Service, Says Westinghouse
The Westinghouse Service station in Glendale, located at the southeast corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado boulevard makes a specialty of repair service—something a little different. They are not always looking out for Westinghouse, but consider primarily the good of the customer. This concern handles the standard Westinghouse battery and repairs all makes of batteries. They have a battery made especially for radio service that is worthy of earnest consideration.

That Four-Lunged Maxwell
Motion pictures showing that wonderfully sturdy Maxwell in action are being shown each evening at the Glendale Motor Car company, 246 South Brand boulevard. These pictures show the "Max" plowing through Mexico and doing stunts that it is generally believed are impossible with the automobile. This car is surely a "bear" and the way it "bears" up under this terrible strain is surely good to see. There are thousands of motorists in California who feel there is nothing like the 1922 Maxwell.

Electric Up At Bletcher's
Everything for the electrical part of the automobile is taken care of at Bletcher's Auto Electric Service at 125 North Maryland avenue. The men employed in this concern are electricians from the first word and they give the customer the very best electrical service possible. Battery, ignition and all other electrical troubles are removed by them. Advice concerning the electrical part of the automobile is cheerfully given by the boys at this electric shop.

Winters Takes Over Garage
J. R. Winters has purchased the interest of his partners, Messrs. Wilson and Shaver in the Broadway garage, 721 East Broadway, and will continue to do business at the same old stand. During the several years this garage has been doing business here it has built up a reputation for excellent work and courteous treatment, as well as of right prices. Every trouble to which the automobile is subject is taken care of at this garage and the work is done right, too.

The benevolent man espied a little tot weeping and said to her: "Now be a good little boy and stop crying." Th child replied: "I can't." "Well, here's a penny. Tell me why you can't be a good boy." "Cause I'm a girl."

Statues and characters are molded with little touches.

After the trip to the hills, clean up the car," said the manager of

THE ABLE CITIZEN

Writing of the chief bolshevist, Arthur Brisbane says:

"It seems he is the man who wrote the Russian-German agreement. Very able citizen, Lenin."

There will be conflicting views on this subject probably. Upholding Lenin, of course, will be the group of which Brisbane is a financially well fixed star. Then there will be Lenin himself, with Trotsky, and a few who are fed by the favor of the pair. Also the parlor bolsheviks.

To the world in general it will appear that Lenin, the "Intellectual," is the basest knave or the biggest fool ever projected into power. He took a country intrinsically great, and plunged it into tragic ruin. He established an oligarchy over millions who desired to be free, and reduced them to a serfdom more galling than had been known under the regime of the fiercest czar. He had the opportunity of winning the admiration and support of the world. This chance he rejected, taught the doctrine of hatred towards all civilization, treachery towards all the nations of the earth. He won the reward of being hated, despised, and feared, not as a worthy foe, but with the antipathy that is felt for the snake.

On top of ghastly and brutal failure, he has the assurance to attempt to dictate to peoples that have proved themselves worthy of the right to live as political entities. He has the measureless insolence, this trumphy pretender, to threaten them. Meanwhile at home, but for the bitter bread of charity, his hapless victims would be dying in swarms.

"Very able citizen, Lenin," might be matched by "Very honorable disciple, Judas."

CIVIL WAR VETERANS

Surviving soldiers of the civil war are all old men. Even those who enlisted as boys have reached a venerable age. Some of them, it is true, are in active life. They stand erect, and their eyes are bright. When they march as participants in some public occasion, they step briskly; but the shadows are long towards the east.

During a month just past there were sixty-seven deaths among the inmates of the old soldiers' home at Sawtelle. So the ranks thin fast. The public hardly realizes the speed with which the remnants of the noble army of the sixties vanish. At each recurring memorial day there are fewer in the parade. There are more who merely look on and cheer feebly, or clad in their blue uniforms, ride as they pay tribute to their dead comrades.

The veterans at the home still go over in memory the wars of long ago. Appomattox and Gettysburg are fought anew. They tell each other stories of Grant and Meade and Sheridan. They are living in days that are gone. They do not hold intimate relationship with the present. So that it deal kindly with them, and surround them with reasonable comfort, they ask little of it. They are not objects of charity, for they have earned all they get, and knowing this, hold to their self respect. People driving by see the old men about the grounds apparently content. But casual observers seldom reflect how soon these veterans shall be seen no more.

THE FAMILY NAME

If any advantage lies in the tendency of married women to retain their maiden names, of course they are welcome to it. However, such advantage is not readily discerned. The custom of the few, made general, would be likely to lead to confusion. In this country, and in a wide part of civilization, the family is the social unit. It must have coherency. A common name for the two heads of the family appears as a mere measure in promotion of unity.

There is necessity often for tracing a family back through many decades. This may be due to property considerations. Retention of the maiden name by a wife, particularly if she had been the mother of children, would, as may readily be seen, make this process more complex than at present. Some people also like to study genealogy. They are able to do this with tolerable accuracy when a name comes down from parents to offspring unchanged from generation to generation.

Take the case of Mary Smith, who marries with William Jones, and elects still to be Mary Smith. What name is to be bestowed upon the children? In this problem is the possibility of conjugal battle as well as confusion of the records. Were the custom to be kept up, there might arise difficulty at some future day in explaining by what legal right Jones was the father of youngsters named Smith. Or why Mary Smith was bearing children named Jones.

By compromise, each addition to the family circle might be a Jones-Smith or a Smith-Jones, in which manner the great grandchildren of the pair would be made to bear titles consisting largely of hyphens.

Perhaps the advanced women who have figured out the innovation are mistaken in thinking the success of their plan would advance them still farther.

RESPECT FOR LAW

An American citizen of excellent standing, by profession an educator, intends to take his family abroad for two years. Travel in itself is a form of education. An insight into the customs of other lands is certain to improve the mind, if not by quickening its perceptions, at least by adding to its store of knowledge that which may not be obtained from a text book. But this was not the chief reason the gentleman gave. He said "I want my children to live for a time in a land where the law is respected." Said without ostentation, without shadow of malice, by an admirable and useful citizen. Something for Americans to think about. They may construe it as a reflection upon their own country. A little contemplation will show them that it is not an aspersion, but implies a just rebuke. They may blush, but they have no right to feel resentment.

In the United States, law is not respected. This is what ails the government and the people. This is the explanation of the wave of crime.

The criminally inclined know in advance that their ventures, however illegal, are unlikely to bring disagreeable results. They know that rogue lawyers will be not only ready to defend them, but to suborn perjury and purchase jurors. They know that a criminal is made a sort of hero. If caught, he is the center of sympathy, unless as happens infrequently, justice operates with such speed that the mooning of the philanthropist and the slobbery piffle of the press soubosier have no opportunity to intervene.

Lack of respect for law is due not only to the delay and inadequacy of courts. The circumstance that traffic in liquor is connived at by many who regard themselves at wholly respectable citizens is having a bad effect. It encourages a brutal and greedy band of offenders. If the moonshiner may peddle his poison with comparative safety, to himself, not his patrons, other offenders are led to believe that they have equal license to ignore the law.

In England or Canada, a murderer does not have one chance in a hundred of escape. In the United States he does not have one chance in a hundred of being punished. The result is seen in the fact that a large American city has more murders in a month than England and Canada combined have in a year. No quibbling is tolerated. No bogus and silly technicality permitted to obtrude. There is no second trial when guilt has been established by due process.

Citizens feel the humiliation, and realize the danger, when they see the laws non-effective. They feel quite helpless. If they take the matter into their own hands they themselves become criminals. Good citizens cannot tolerate any form of mob rule. Were it possible for them to do so, under guise of protecting the community, thieves, assassins and thugs, would take to the highway. The mob never reforms anything. Even if it could be imagined as having high purpose, it would be a bad example.

Every individual may obey the law himself. This may be his contribution to good order.

The jury in the case of the member of the mob who had been killed while raiding, did not mince matters the least little bit. They thought the ku klux outfit responsible for the entire outrage, and they said so. The verdict is upheld by the public.

The manner in which the authorities are going after the ku klux outfit is highly satisfactory to all save the sheeted band. The episode at Inglewood undoubtedly revealed the true character of the organization to many who had been induced to join under some misapprehension as to purpose and methods. These are hastening to resign. That sworn officers of the peace have affiliated with the order is surprising. It makes very clear the fact that such men never were fit to be officers of the peace.

CRAZY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some time ago a wealthy girl, according to the press reports, disappeared from her rooms at the University of Chicago and was found in a boarding house near the campus, where she had been sleeping nights while spending her days seeking work.

Her father and other members of her family, who are people of wealth, went on from New York to assist the police in finding the girl, and suspected that her disappearance was caused by amnesia, which had followed an attack of gastritis.

They found her, but it was not amnesia that she had. It was an idea. It was so strange an idea that it was euphemistically referred to an eccentric, while others said in plainer speech that she was just crazy.

The idea was that she wanted to work for her living. She got tired of the routine of college life and sought to make her own way in the world. She went first to the home of a coal dealer, where she worked as cook. She found, however, she was not suited for kitchen work, and decided a business career would suit her better. She said:

"I did not expect that my action would cause this excitement. I told my roommates what I intended to do, but they kept my secret well. Ever since I can remember I have been petted and pampered, but I grew tired of it and wanted to prove that I could be economically independent."

All that is necessary to be considered crazy is to be different from other people. If everybody thinks the moon is made of green cheese and you believe that it is a burnt-out satellite of the Earth you will be called crazy.

So in a society where everybody is struggling, sweating and praying for luxury, prominence and a life of idleness, if you want simplicity and love work and shun notoriety, you need not be surprised if fingers are pointed at you and foreheads are significantly tapped. The idea that this young lady had, as far as one can gather from the printed accounts, is about the soundest idea anybody ever did have.

In fact, the catechism might well be amended, and the answer to the question "What is the first duty of man?" should be "To earn his salt." Also woman.

The last thing many fond parents learn is that no favor they can bestow upon their child is equal to teaching him to shoulder his own responsibilities.

We can be friendly and helpful. We can train children and we ought to inspire them.

But to step in and take the load off their shoulders, to provide for them so that they will not have to earn their own living, to remove them from the normal struggle which is the very essence of life and of manhood, is to wrong their souls about as bitterly as we can.

About the details of this case we have no means of knowing and pass no judgment. But in regard to the idea expressed by the young lady, it should meet our enthusiastic approval.

THE LISTENING POST

There is in this country only one proper way to punish crime.
To redress wrongs.
To impose penalties.
To bring justice.
That is the legal and constitutional way provided by law.

* * *
Any other way is without the law.
Is having recourse to violence.
Is unlawful.
Is subversive of good government.
And persons who profess belief in violent means of punishing offenders without the due process of law, are not good citizens.

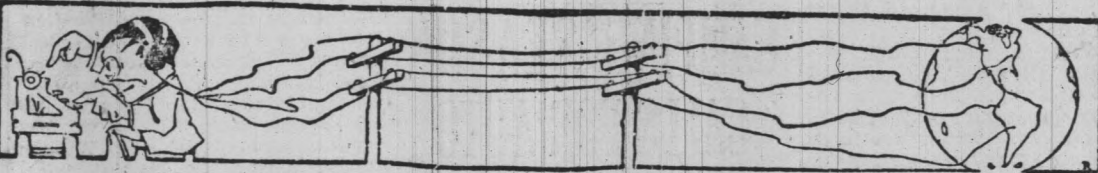

* * *
And those who may be led to practice violence are working to subvert government.
And to tear down the foundations of the state and the nation.
That our forefathers gave life to build.

It is well to remember that in olden days force was the governing power.
If a king or lord or somebody or other got angry with you, he seized you and locked you up and detained you and perhaps whipped you and starved you and left you to die.

And nobody knew what had happened to you.
You had no chance to make a defense.
Force destroyed you.

* * *
And plain people fought and bled and died for many a weary year to wrest from rulers and from force the acknowledgment of individual rights.
That no man could be despoiled of his property or deprived of his life without a hearing.

A trial.
The presentation of evidence.
A facing of his accusers.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"How Sleep the Brave"—By William Collins (1721-1759)

How sleep the brave, who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When Spring, with dewy fingers cold,
Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung;
By fits unscen their dirge is sung;
There Honor comes, a pilgrim gray,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
And Freedom shall awhile repair
To dwell, a weeping hermit, there!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

There are persons so constituted as to feel no thrill of excitement over the fact that Obenchain has gone back to Chicago.

A wife for declining to testify against the husband who tried to kill her has been locked up. Sometimes the meek inherit the jail.

Editor Bottomley of London has been bound over on a charge of theft. Whether or not guilty of stealing, he cannot deny that he published "John Bull."

"No Excuse for Ku Klux Klan," says a headline. However, it is believed the wizards, goblins and gleagles are trying to formulate some.

Courtesy to the aged would seem to indicate a likelihood that the bride of 95 who is asking a divorce will get what she wants.

A military speaker before the senate defended gas as a weapon. It certainly is the approved weapon of some of the gentlemen he addressed.

With Lloyd George reported as being with his back to the wall, Lenin probably would be glad to complete the picture by furnishing the firing squad.

War department officials are said to object to inquiry into contract frauds at this time. In this they have the hearty support of the suspects.

The oriental cook who stabbed four persons because they had been gossiping about him, is regarded as having been too severe.

Since automobilists cannot be restrained from bumping into lamp posts, the latter ought to be made strong enough to wreck the machine instead of being wrecked.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PASTIMES AT WASHINGTON
(New York Times)

Senator Norris, in a speech evidently delivered for consumption out in the great free open spaces of the west, expresses the fear that Chief Justice Taft is treading the primrose path. It appears that he "lines out somewhere every night," if the senator may be believed. Further Mr. Norris lays it down that no man can "stick his legs under the tables of the idle rich every night and be fit the next day to sit in judgment on those who toil. Honest though he may be, it will get him in the end."

What can we do about it? We might adopt a constitutional amendment condemning Mr. Taft to eat at home, or providing that he demand a certificate from his host each evening that all persons present have done some toil in the course of the day. Senator Norris offers no remedy, though he remarks darkly that the time will come when Washingtonians "will not be dining out in high social fashion every night," and that even when they do attend "social and friendly dinners" the women present will wear "dresses that come clear up to their necks and extend downward below their knees." The senator has sketched out a big job for himself in reforming the dress of the citizens of Washington; if he can succeed in putting through a measure standardizing the dinner gown, he will have made his name immortal.

Meanwhile, he might go a little lighter on Mr.

Any mob or body of individuals that takes law into its own hands, as the saying is, is tearing down all that men have labored for years to build.

He is sullying the flag of his country.
Dynamiting its pillars and foundations.

* * *
Men have been led to do strange things by the inflaming of their passions.
By the voice of demagogues.
By the appeal to their knightly instincts.
But reason and good sense will suggest that mob rule is no rule for any land that is to survive.

* * *
If any person tells you that it is your duty to join any mob and seek to redress wrongs by violence, he is seeking to destroy your good citizenship.
To corrupt your civic and patriotic morals.
And in the end, to do you vast injury.

Laws do not always achieve what they were designed to achieve.
But they do it far oftener than mobs do.
Courts may not be infallible.

* * *
But they are safer for the endurance of a government than masked mobs.

* * *
Remember that your oath to the government, whether you have taken it openly or tacitly, is greater than any oath to any insurrection existing within the government and by the protection of the very government itself.
Remember it and value it and let nothing override it.

Otherwise in the end you will have no government.
No assurance of anything unless you happen to be on the side of the biggest and strongest mob.

JAMES W. FOLEY

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

There are varied ways of wasting time. Idle discussion concerning the amount necessary for a working girl to expend on her apparel is one of them. Such has been the subject of much heated talk and protestation of late. "Eighty-seven dollars per year is all that is necessary," declares one authority.

"Impossible!" cried another. "Two hundred dollars is the smallest sum that could possibly be allowed per year for a presentable wardrobe." "Four hundred dollars is nearer," states a third. "And even that allows of but few luxuries at present prices."

Any of these might be correct—and might not be. So many of the fundamental traits of the girls themselves must be taken into consideration. Personal habits of neatness and good care of clothing, the knack of making the most of everything, the willingness and ability to "make over" occasionally, to add to commonplace garments that touch that so increases their apparent value; all these are to be reckoned with. Each girl has an individual problem here that no one else can decide for her.

Furthermore, the average business woman has no desire to have her way laid out for her, her expenditures arranged for her. She may read with idle "amazement" the various lists of garments: "One winter coat (three years), $45;" "two pairs low shoes, $14," and so on. But she is very likely to go out then and buy for herself a spring coat for $65 and a pair of strap pumps for an even dozen of them.

And who has a better right than she? Why try to arbitrarily set boundaries for other people's spending?

Taft, dining out is pretty nearly the only amusement in Washington. Those who care for vaudeville, like Mr. Wilson, can find something to do besides sticking their legs under the tables of the idle rich; but persons of more severe taste are apt to find that the night life of Washington offers no alternative to dining out, except dining in. If night sessions of the senate were more frequent, the populace might get a little amusement out of listening to the speeches; but as it is, dining out is the only sport available for most residents of Washington.

PROFIT IN SIMPLICITY

[Brockton Times]

A shoe manufacturer is advertising: "Eliminating multiple grades and multiple prices and concentrating our entire output on one price and one quality simplifies manufacturing, increases production, reduces factory inventories in leathers and lasts and makes it possible to keep the quality up in factory and cut the price down." Standardize and simplify! It is the process by which the biggest manufacturing fortunes in this country are being made, and yet the lesson is only half heeded. Most manufacturers, no doubt, would have difficulty in getting simplification of quality, style and price down to the basis indicated in the advertisement quote, but the principle applies just the same. It also applies, with some necessary modifications, to every farm and every mercantile institution or process. It is the way to produce more rapidly, the way to economize time and energy, the way to pile up wealth, get ahead and improve human life.

FOOLS FORGET EXPERIENCES

If their memories run back far enough it might be well for the republican leaders who are boosting rates in the new tariff bill to remember what happened to the party after the enactment of the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES.

There is a man who recently received an invitation to a dinner in honor of a distinguished professor from his old college. He was requested also to come prepared to deliver an address, at which honor he felt himself swelling until he feared the expansion would be noticed.

He made ready smooth and scintillating phrases, in which great thoughts found a setting. At last he deemed them so. He dressed for the evening by getting a shine and donning a fresh collar. Upon arriving at the designated place he found nothing but room. The dinner had been just twenty-four hours earlier.

Here was an error for which he could offer no excuse. The invitation, as verified later, had plainly stated "Monday." This had registered in the wretched man's mind as "Tuesday." That's all. He went forth and wandered the streets looking for another big fool as himself. This mission, too, was a failure.

This column is little given to personalities, and therefore the name of this unfortunate soul is withheld. He has resolved to let his wife scan future invitations and keep tab on dates.

Germany is playing a very sharp financial game. In selling vast quantities of marks to American speculators and sympathizers she has procured enough gold to afford great purchasing power. This gold does not seem readily adaptable to payment of reparation.

The sympathizers are being buncoked, but have only themselves to blame. So are the speculators being skinned. They are not wise speculators, or they would not buy German marks while it is possible still to get hold of confederate currency. Of course, the latter is worthless, but to buy it would seem like encouraging a home industry.

Probably nothing sillier than the titles worn by the higher-ups in the ku klux business ever has been invented. Think of a "grand goblin" or an "imperial wizard" and try to imagine them filling useful stations. Simply can't be done.

It is the imperial wizard who sends word that "the kuklux klan stands unqualifiedly opposed to every form of lawlessness." The wizard is not enough of a wiz to put that across.

* * *
The kuklux klan is in itself a form of lawlessness.

That was the privilege of the great. Doubtless the smaller fry present on the occasion wanted to go to sleep, but didn't dare.

Word comes from Ireland that the Irish are tired of murder. Perhaps there could be no better proof of their sincerity than for them to rest from it awhile.

There is current some discussion as to what constitutes the dangerous age for man. Estimates differ widely, and none of them tends to establish fact.

* * *
The truth is that any age that permits the male to toddle on the street, either as an infant, or the picture of antiquity, sustained by a cane, is dangerous, and will so continue until the automobile has been tamed and its driver civilized.

* * *
Los Angeles is thinking of a law to prohibit disguises. This is aimed at the ku klux and means that the hooded nightshirt for highway wear is to become de trop. The idea is not without merit, although it might interfere with the liberty of a man going to a masked ball in the guise of a devil, or the donkey head of Bottom.

Sacramento never will adopt such a rule until after its '49 celebration. All the men up there are going about now disguised in the biggest bouquet of whiskers they can find room for on their chins.

A man advertised that he needed a stenographer. He was answered by a young woman who needed the work, and she was engaged. He had no job for her, but he managed to get all her money, and even to steal her wraps, which she had checked at a hotel. So was she left penniless in a strange city. The police are looking for the man, for whose scalp a reward should be offered.

A criminal of such type is dangerous. He is dangerous because he is so mean that there is no villainy to which he would not stoop. The creature who would rob a working girl, contriving a plot for the purpose, is unfit to be at large and unfit to be alive. The happiest outcome would be for him to resist just sufficiently to give the police an excuse to shoot him.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Doc Biven had his sign repainted the other day. It needed repainting. It had swung in the breeze that pulls through our village street on all days except warm days for twenty years and had never been touched. When it was again nailed to the mast this is the way it read:

"Biven and May."

May is the nice youngster who has been a sort of a fixture in Doc's office for years past. He was a kind of an office boy at first and ran errands and then he went away to school and now here he is a regular, skilled doctor, with the certainty of the succession to Old Doc Biven's practice when that crusty gentleman gets tired of fooling with our follies.

"I'm glad to see you have taken May into partnership, Doc," I said. "Waugh!" Doc snorted. "I didn't take him in. He came in."

Then he told me the story. When May was a kid he determined to become a doctor. He looked over the field in our village and picked out Doc Biven and told him about it. Doc snorted at him. Even then folks realized that his snorts were like pie crust—they just added a savor to the pie. Doc said he had no need for an office boy or an errand boy and didn't want one under his feet.

But young May kept at him. Not in an unpleasant, pushing, noisy way, you'll understand. But every now and then he'd drop into Doc's office and show him his school reports or his new air rifle or get professional advice on the mange in dogs, and each time he placed before Doc his extreme desire to become one of the future ornaments of the medical profession. By and by Doc succumbed and he worked around the place during vacations and now he drives a small, green car and carries a black bag and handles the bush league cases for Old Doc.

Doc says that any boy who has enough savvy and grit and intelligence to maintain a campaign of that sort, year after year, can get anywhere. He says that if young May had planned to become president there isn't a doubt that one of these days he would be in the White House.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

The forests of the United States comprise 465 million acres, of which 191 million acres are owned by farmers in the form of farm wood lots.

Grape leaves make a good covering for dill pickles, and cabbage leaves for sauerkraut.

"Lingue" is a native Chilean wood used in the manufacture of shoe heels. Brazilian cherry is also used for this purpose.

The cellar, if planned as compactly as the upper floors of a house, contains a waste of about three-fourths of its cubage.

MRS. ENGLISH ENTERTAINS WITH BUNCO PARTY

Mrs. David S. English and daughter, Mrs. E. E. Oliver of 437 West Ivy street, entertained Thursday at a charming luncheon and bunc party given in honor of Mrs. Harry Thrall Scott from Kansas, a house guest of Mrs. A. S. Chase of 400 Riverdale drive. Mrs. Oliver was assisted by her daughter, Miss Ethel Broome Oliver.

The delicious luncheon was served at four small tables, a different color scheme being used on each table. The place cards and favors matched the centerpiece, which on one was pink carnations, on another red roses, another golden poppies and still another, nasturtiums.

A jolly afternoon of bunc was enjoyed, first prize being won by Mrs. A. S. Chase and consolation prize by Mrs. E. D. Yard.

Covers were laid for the honoree, Mrs. Harry Thrall Scott, Mrs. Harry Boring, Mrs. William Farlander, Mrs. John Frazier, Mrs. Victor Gilbert, Mrs. Barton Manbert, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Francis Nichols, Mrs. Minnie C. Patterson, Mrs. John Rice, Mrs. Frank Rice, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. R. M. Yost, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Miss Ethel Broome Oliver and the hostesses, Mrs. David S. English and Mrs. E. E. Oliver.

LITTLE BETTY BOOTHBY ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Little Miss Betty Jane Boothby was very charmingly entertained Thursday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. W. H. Boothby of 348 West Lexington drive, gave her a delightful party in honor of her second birthday.

A dainty color scheme of pink and white was carried out, using roses, and during the afternoon pink and white ice cream and birthday cake were served. The birthday cake was beautiful, being decorated in pink roses and candles.

Covers were laid for the following guests, with their mothers: Yvonne Eames, Jimmy Farnes, Margaret Salmacia, Barbara Jean McAdams and Betty Jane Boothby. Little Miss Boothby received many pretty and useful gifts.

MRS. PACKER GIVES TWO BIG PARTIES

Mrs. Stephen Packer of Riverdale drive, who belongs to the recently organized "Community Workers," was hostess at two big parties given at her home Thursday afternoon and evening for which a charge was made, the proceeds being turned over to the ways and means committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club with a request that the money be applied on the clubhouse building fund.

It was an informal affair, groups of ladies being invited to take tables.

The hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. A. M. Williams, had decorated her house with flowers, and the two parties proved delightful social affairs.

UNION LABEL LEAGUE IS ENTERTAINED

The home of Mrs. D. Hall, 126 Franklin court, was the scene of much merriment Thursday afternoon when she was hostess to the Women's Union Label League, local No. 400.

The league colors of purple and white were used throughout the house in decorating and at the close of a jolly afternoon spent in playing bunc, purple punch and a delicious cake in purple and white were served. First prize for bunc went to Mrs. Bryant and was a beautiful orangewood basket. Consolation prize of a pair of candy tins went to Mrs. McIntyre.

MRS. HOSKYN ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Edward Hoskyn of 234 North Jackson street entertained the members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church Thursday afternoon at her home.

The afternoon was devoted to the study of the book "The Kingdom of the Nation," the chapter under discussion being "Islam."

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments of cake, wafers and tea were served to the following ladies: Mrs. Mark Russell, Mrs. Scripps, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. S. B. Warner, Mrs. T. G. Love, Mrs. Potter, Miss C. Heroy, Mrs. J. A. Wright and the hostess, Mrs. Edward Hoskyn.

ST. MARK'S GUILD HOLDS MEETING

St. Mark's Guild held its regular weekly meeting Thursday afternoon at the guild hall, with 20

ladies present. The afternoon was devoted to sewing, and a short business meeting was held at which time it was decided to hold all-day meetings during May in order to prepare for the bazaar, to be held June 3. A luncheon will be served at noon during these all-day meetings. The president, Mrs. Mortimer Baker, was in charge of the meeting.

BLUE AND GOLD LUNCHEON GIVEN

Mrs. H. V. Henry was hostess Tuesday at a luncheon given at her home, 353 Pioneer drive, in honor of Mrs. Oliver Clark.

A blue and gold color scheme was carried out in the flowers which centered the table and in the place cards—hand-painted baskets.

Places were indicated for Mrs. Oliver Clark, Mrs. Emma Brownfield, Mrs. A. D. Cross, Miss Ramsey, Mrs. C. G. Farrow, Mrs. R. C. Lane, Mrs. William Rathbun, Mrs. John Baum, Mrs. Coles, and the hostess, A social afternoon followed the luncheon.

P. E. O. RECIPROCITY LUNCHEON IS HELD

The banquet hall of the First Methodist church presented a most enjoyable scene on Friday when the P. E. O. chapters of Glendale and Chapter U of Burbank attended the reciprocity luncheon held there.

The tables were attractive in decorations of California poppies and garlands of white roses, and at each place was a tiny boutonniere. A corsage bouquet of lovely rosebuds awaited each guest of honor.

The luncheon, beautifully served by Mrs. C. D. Leiby and her committee, was both dainty and appetizing. Guests of honor were members of the California state chapter, and included Mrs. Maude Clock, president; Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer, first vice president; Mrs. Iva Adams, recording secretary; Mrs. Faith Story, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. La Belle Townsend, treasurer.

After luncheon the ladies adjourned to the parlors to enjoy the program, which was given by members from each chapter present. Mrs. Madeline Kelly, president of the Glendale P. E. O. reciprocity bureau, who acted as chairman, welcomed the state officers and in her own charming manner introduced each one.

A gorgeous bouquet was then presented to Mrs. Maude Clock, state president, by Mrs. Anna Goss, mother of Glendale P. E. O., who closed her little speech by saying:

"Tis not the great and mighty deeds that make us sweet—but just the little deeds of love in those we meet."

The program, which was much enjoyed, consisted of the following numbers:

Songs—
Song of Autumn.....Sibella
Sheep and Lambs.....S. Homer
Miss Isabel Isgrig

Forbidden Music.....Gastoldon
Dawn of Morn.....

Mrs. Lucille Eames of Chapter A. H.
Reading—"Auntie Doleful"
Miss Martha Cox, Chapter C. J.

Songs—
Thou Art Like a Flower.....
Come, Will You Come With Me.....
Mrs. Edith Arnold, Chapter B. H.
Music Memory Contest—
Mrs. Craig, Chapter U.

At a luncheon at which all the supervisors were present, Miss Cardin announced that Glendale had the best record for school attendance of any town in California, which of course made Mr. Rowley very happy. Everywhere he went he heard pleasant comments on our city and came home feeling very proud of his town.

During the convention a conference of school attendance officers was held over which Miss George Cardin, state supervisor of school attendance at Sacramento, presided.

At that session a committee composed of Supervisor Dunbar of Los Angeles, Supervisor Swanson of Imperial Valley, and Supervisor Rowley of Glendale were appointed to draw up a coking plan for a state organization of supervisors of California.

A big program was provided with round tables and separate conferences on the side was provided. Interest centered, he says, in problems related to the probation and delinquency of children, child conservation, prison reform, health and recreation.

Harriett Bagge of the "Little Shop," 1021-A South Brand boulevard, entertained Friday night with a dinner in honor of the birthday of their sister, Mrs. Harry Ryan, at the home of the latter. Golden poppies were used in decorating and as a part of the dessert course a beautiful birthday cake was served.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ryan, Misses Ruth and Ramona Ryan, Richard Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bagge and daughter, Miss Geneva Bagge, Howard Lowdermilk, Rudolph Rosenberg, Miss B. Pearson, of Burbank, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wykoff and son, Frank, and Miss Harriett Bagge.

C. E. OF GLENDALE ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

The Glendale district, Christian Endeavor, entertained Friday night with a jolly social in the basement of Central Christian church.

The spacious room was artistically decorated in the Christian Endeavor colors of purple and gold, using wistaria, poppies and Japanese marigolds. Streamers of the same colors ran from the chandeliers to the places at the tables where refreshments of punch and cake were served to about 125.

This affair was called a "futuristic party" and the main feature of the evening was that the girls dressed the boys in newspaper dresses, which caused much merriment. Various games and Victrola numbers were enjoyed and the entire evening was a great success. Miss Helen Ingledue, district social chairman, was in charge of the evening, and was assisted by Mrs. Harry Marple, Miss Mildred Cole and George Stanley.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Central Avenue Methodist church will hold its monthly meeting Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Tisdale on Acacia avenue. All ladies interested in missions are invited to attend.

ROWLEY REPORTS ON SAN DIEGO CONFERENCE

T. Rowley who has just returned from attendance on the California conference of Social Work held at San Diego April 25 to 29 reports most profitable and interesting sessions attended by audiences of 2000 which included 800 or more delegates from all parts of the state. Mr. Rowley represented the Glendale Red Cross chapter.

A big program was provided with round tables and separate conferences on the side was provided. Interest centered, he says, in problems related to the probation and delinquency of children, child conservation, prison reform, health and recreation.

At that session a committee composed of Supervisor Dunbar of Los Angeles, Supervisor Swanson of Imperial Valley, and Supervisor Rowley of Glendale were appointed to draw up a coking plan for a state organization of supervisors of California.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO GIVE BIG CONCERT

Program to Feature Harry Girard in His Own Composition

The concert to be given on Thursday, May 4, under the auspices of the Professional and Business Women's club of Glendale, will be of such a high musical character that it cannot be forgotten, by those so fortunate as to be present. It is a musical event of importance and the club has displayed intelligence in the selection of the artists, who will give the concert. The Trend of Time, by Mr. Harry Girard, and other vocal compositions will make up the program. The Trend of Time is only one of some 50 to 60 compositions by Mr. Girard. This work was most favorably received in England. As a composer no one, excepting Mr. Charles Wakefield Cadman, is better known west of the Rocky mountains. The Girard-Le Bont quartet are the artists for the concert. They have recently been heard in Glendale, and this is another treat not to be missed.

score cards. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. E. E. East and the gentlemen's favor by Clifford Hill. At midnight a delicious supper was served, after which dancing was enjoyed.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. E. E. East, Mr. and Mrs. H. Spindle, Clifford Hill of Seattle, Harry Baruch of New York, Jas. Denny of Spokane.

GET ACQUAINTED DANCE FOLKS PLAN PROGRAM

Members of the Get-Acquainted Dancing Classes conducted by Mrs. Nanno Woods are planning several delightful functions in the near future. Mrs. Woods will give an afternoon tea under her beautiful wisteria pergola on the afternoon of Sunday, May 7, to which all members will be welcome.

On the 7th of June the Wednesday evening class will hold a dancing party, and on Thursday, the 8th of June, another dancing party will be given in honor of the Thursday evening class.

But the chief social event will be a picnic to Hermosa Beach to be enjoyed on Sunday, the 8th of July, to which not only the present members of the Get-Acquainted Dancing Classes will be invited, but also all past dancing pupils are cordially urged to attend.

For many years Mrs. Woods has urged the establishing in Glendale of a Civic Social Center similar to the Community Center at La Jolla. She still dreams of the day when Glendale will awaken up to the needs of a social center where young and old may meet together make friends. Her Get-Acquainted dancing classes are a step in this direction and are meeting with phenomenal success. Newcomers to Glendale, people who feel lonesome and would like to make congenial acquaintances are invited to phone Mrs. Woods at her residence, Glendale 394.

NEW TRACT BEING OPENED

The Golden Rule Real Estate Office will have for sale, beginning Monday, May 1, a limited number of extra fine residence lots on the east side of Verdugo road, fronting on a continuation of Stanley avenue, only 1-2 block from street car line on Wilson avenue, and 800 ft. north of the Broadway and Verdugo road corner.

These lots will be priced to sell. Quick, in fact we want them to sell as readily as did the Lemon Grove tract lots just east of this fine tract, having a variety of bearing fruit trees on them—oranges, peaches, plums, and apricots.

Most of these lots have south frontage, and being located only a short distance from the new Glendale Sanatorium tract and the new Union High School site, with restrictions very reasonable. If anyone wants a lot in this tract at the original price it will be best to make a selection early as they will soon all be sold.

We will be pleased to show you these lots even if you do not buy.

LUMBER COMPANY EXPANDS ON VALLEY ROAD

Independent Plant Grows Two Acres West
of S. P. Tracks

Business is good for the Independent Lumber company, corner San Fernando boulevard and Doran street. This is evidenced by the fact that this company has just purchased two acres of ground just west of the Southern Pacific tracks, this being necessary in order that their increasing business may be well taken care of. "Our business has been better than we ever anticipated since coming to Glendale. From the very start the people of this city have realized that really fair prices and courteous treatment we have been giving them. One of the aims of our company is to increase our usefulness to this community with each succeeding month. Our own interests come secondary to the interests of the community as a whole. As this is becoming generally realized the people in increasing numbers are lending us their support."

RED CARDS FOR BUDDY SUPPORTERS

also glad to see Glendale business men cooperating to the extent of giving a percentage of their sales," continued the observer. "and I know the housewives of Glendale will see to it that these merchants are liberally patronized." And why not? The merchant who gives a percent of his sales is showing a patriotic spirit that should be rewarded by liberal patronage.

It is the object of the Daily Press to keep the public informed on the dates of these sales and to give every possible aid to the merchant in getting before the public the special prices offered. The Daily Press will furnish merchants, putting on sales, with large placards printed in red, which when displayed will indicate that a special sale is going on for the benefit of the Buddies' Building Fund. Watch the windows of merchants for these signs, and patronize their sales liberally.

Sales Commence Today
If you go to the Ladies' Toggery Shop, 133 South Brand, today you will find one of these big red placards in the window. Upon entering you will notice that prices have been reduced for the special sale that is going on, and that five percent of the total sales for Saturday, Monday and Tuesday will be given to the Buddies' Home Building Fund. The Toggery Shop carries a good line of millinery, ladies' ready-to-wear goods, etc.

Buy Your Paint Now.
The Stevens Paint store, 219½ East Broadway, will give 5 percent of today's sales, which should net a goodly amount for the soldier boys, as this paint store carries a splendid line of paints, wall paper, wall board, etc. Mr. Stevens said: "I sell at a very close margin of profit, but I am more than willing to divide it with the boys."

Big Sale Next Week
McGee's Dry Goods store at 614 East Broadway is now in the midst of a big sale, which will prevent announcement of the Buddies' Day Sale until Monday. However, Mr. McGee says "I am going to give a day of cut prices that should net a good amount for the building fund." Watch for his advertisement in Monday's paper.

$1.00 Buys a Phonograph
Here is a chance for some one to get a phonograph and at the same time do a good turn. Mr. Kenny says: "It will require only $1 to place one of these phonographs in your home, and on every instrument sold Monday and Tuesday, I am going to give 5 percent to the fund." You will never find a better time to buy a Columbia phonograph.

Hurry to Kenn's Music Shop
Your wants will be attended to at Kenn's Music Shop, 203 North Brand or phone 65-W.

Syms & Brown, 148 South Brand will give 5 percent of their total sales on Monday. This firm carries an exceptionally good line of men's furnishings and sell at close prices.

Army & Navy Goods
It is very fitting that the Army and Navy store, corner Brand and Harvard, should be interested in helping the soldiers, and with this aim in view are going to make drastic reductions and give a good percentage on today's sales. Yesterday's Daily Press carried an advertisement in which they made some very attractive prices.

Buy Your Refrigerator Now
Grossman & Miller Furniture company, corner Brand and California, are going to give 5 percent of their total sales on Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2, to help build a home for a Buddy. Just now they are making some very attractive prices on refrigerators, which you should investigate.

Buy a Tailored Suit
A. Gelmor, 138 South Brand, will devote Saturday, Monday and Tuesday to special sales, and will give 5 percent on every ladies or men's tailored suit ordered. He has all the latest in spring fabrics. See his stock.

A Spring Hat
Miss Holseth's Millinery at 209 East Broadway, is not only making a reduction of 25 per cent on summer hats, but will give 5 percent of today's sales to help build a home for a buddy. Miss Holseth carries the best in millinery, and also knows her business.

Get Up Early
W. E. Heald will aid the Buddies fund by selling $2.25 alarm clocks today for only $1.75. Mr. Heald carries a good line of jewelry at his store, 125 West Broadway, and also does watch repairing, etc.

Murphy Patriotic
Murphy, the furniture man at 1261 South Brand, will give 5 percent of his total sales today to the Buddies' fund. He carries a complete line of new and used furniture and household goods, including stoves and ranges, and sells at very close prices. His business has grown so rapidly that recently he was compelled to rent an additional store room to take care of the larger stock demanded by his increasing business.

Others Aid and Give Sales
The Builders' Hardware, the Glendale Sheet Metal Works, Neale & Gregg, Montrose Railway, Tolman's Unique Shop, C. H. Kirkman & Co., 141 South Brand; Barlow's on East Broadway; Baines Shoe Shop and Broadway Shoe store on East Broadway and Carl Anderson's Dry Goods store, 516 East Broadway; Lexie H. Allison; Cornwell & Kelly Hardware Co.; Harry Moore & Co.; Wilson-Bell Hardware Co., and others will aid in building the five homes for the soldier boys. More definite announcement of sales, etc., will appear in Monday's Daily Press.

THROW FIRST BRICK
LONDON, April 29.—(United Press)—The Lady Mayoress of London is to have the first brick at a new type of ceremony here. St. Bartholomew's Hospital is to demolish its nurses' quarters in favor of a more modern building. The Lady Mayoress accepted an invitation to throw from a chimney the first brick to be removed.

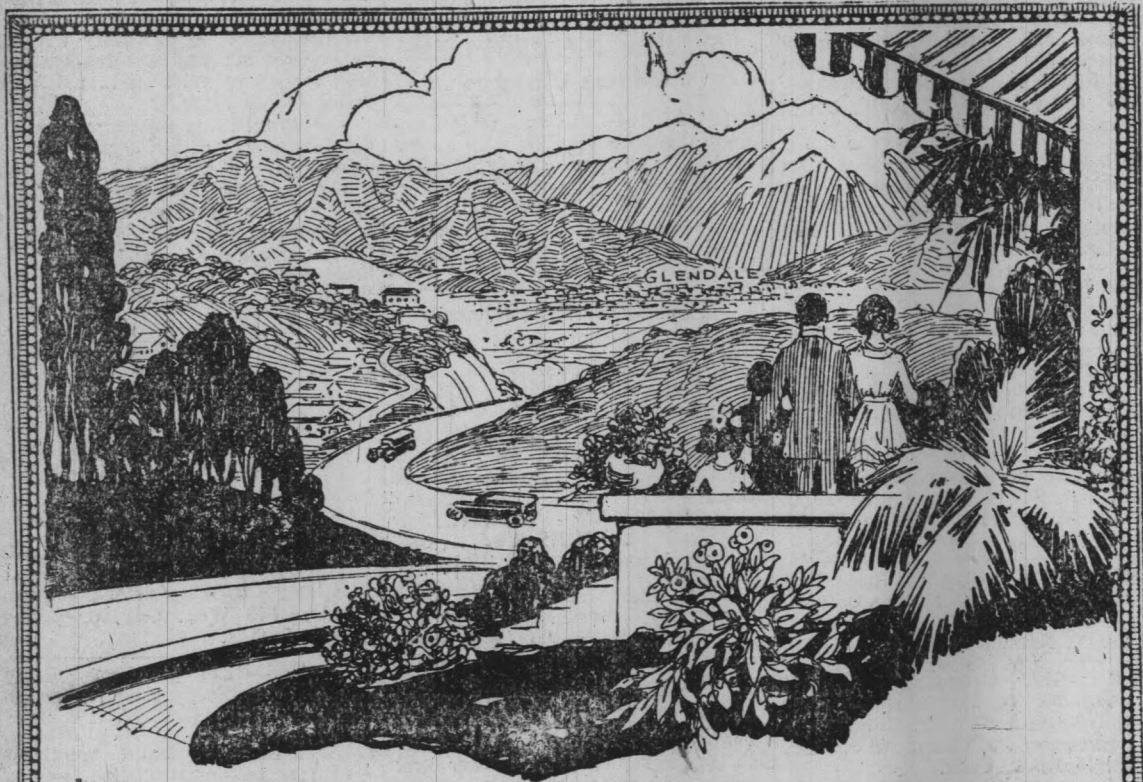

The nurses and students at a certain London hospital were rehearsing a Greek play—in English. They were to perform it at a concert in aid of their exchequer.

There was a dear old lady at the rehearsal. She seemed a little mystified.

Eventually she turned to the girl beside her and said in a puzzled voice: "Let me see, dear. Euripides—was he before Venice-los?"

DISCONTINUANCE SALE
We will discontinue skirts and sweaters. Every one at a big reduction. Ladies' Toggery Shop, 133 S. Brand.—Adv.

Come Dwell in The Hills of IVANHOE

You are tired of the "long daily drag" between the house and your "downtown" office.

For months you have passed, on Glendale Blvd., only 3 miles from Broadway, picturesque Ivanhoe Hills, held in acreage as a part of the Griffith estate. Often you have thought how convenient would be a home on their slopes, overlooking the San Fernando valley and Glendale, and offering a panorama of the Sierra Madres. Possibly you have even pictured the joy of a "before-breakfast" walk along the quiet waters of Silver Lake.

All these things are possible now. Large, well restricted homesites may be purchased on Ivanhoe Hills. Water is in. Building may start at once. Gas and electricity are within a day's work from the tract. We pay for all improvements. Courteous salesmen will call for you on request.

SPANISH TUITION AT EVENING HI SCHOOL

Just What Is to Be Achieved by Knowledge

By Henry E. Brockway

Many Glendale residents may not be aware of the fact that right in our growing city the Glendale High school since last November has been conducting classes in Spanish two evenings a week. These classes are held on Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:30 to 8:30 for beginners and 6:30 to 7:30 for intermediate, and stress is laid on the conversation side in both.

If there is one modern language
an acquaintance with which can be put to real, practical use today, that language is Spanish, not only on account of our juxtaposition to the Mexican Republic and the consequent influx of Spanish-speaking people to our side of the border, but, far more important, by reason of the ever-increasing business relations between Southern California and the Latin-American countries. The increasingly improved steamship service between Los Angeles and Mexican, Central and South American seaports means more export business with those countries and an enhanced demand for Spanish as the medium of correspondence. To those of our readers who are connected with business firms in Los Angeles
doing business with Latin-American countries, or reaching out for such, the course in Spanish offered by the Glendale Union High School should be of especial interest. As
T. Philip Terry says, in his "Short Cut to Spanish," "The ability to speak, write and understand Spanish is a most desirable accomplishment. Such ability will greatly enhance the commercial value of its possessor, for today Spanish is at a premium. It is the golden key to the purchasing power of sixty or more millions of people on the American continent, and half as many in Europe. The growing possibilities of trade in Spanish-America, and the necessity of knowing Spanish by the men who do business there, no doubt accounts for the fact that this beautiful tongue is now included in the curriculum of more than two hundred universities and centers of high learning, in upward of eight hundred secondary schools in the United States."

For the benefit of those who may have joined after the Christmas recess and found the class
a little too advanced for them, it is planned, provided the number of applicants is sufficient, to start a new "right-from-the-beginning"
class for the remainder of the school year, which will enable those who have been attending since last November to fall automatically into the intermediate class, for which many are now qualified.

Any persons interested in Spanish and who already have a fair acquaintance with the language are invited to visit the intermediate class held at 6:30 on Monday and Wednesday evenings. All the classes are entirely free. The book being used in the beginners' class is Wilkins, First Spanish Book, and in the intermediate, Wilkins and Luria, Lecturas Faciles or Wax-man's, A Trip to South America, (in Spanish). It is planned to run these classes up to about June 23, which will give new-comers an opportunity to get quite a good start if they matriculate right away.

SOCK-EYE OF '49 TO BE REVIVED AT SACRAMENTO

Dish Relished at Hang-town in the Roaring Days of Old

SACRAMENTO, CALIF., April 29—"Sock-eye," to the uninitiated might sound like a new kind of game, but it isn't.

It's a food, a dish relished in the days of the red shirt, pick and shovel and gold pan—the "DAYS OF '49."

And it will be on the bill of fare, together with the "Hangtown Fry" and other favorite dishes of the Forty-Niners during the celebration of the Gold Rush in Sacramento, May 23-28.

A pioneer woman of Dutch Flat gives the following recipe for "Sock-eye." Try it out on the kitchen stove: Take as many potatoes as needed. Take one-half as many onions as potatoes. To every four potatoes take two slices of salt pork. Peel and slice the potatoes and onions. Cut up the salt pork. Cover with cold water and cook slowly one half hour or longer. Season to taste. Keep covered. Turn occasionally with a pancake turner. Do not brown nor let a crust form.

The "Hangtown Fry" was equally popular with the gold miners, the principal ingredient being oysters.

"I've decided on a name for baby," said the young mother. "I shall call her Euphrosyne."

Her husband did not care for the suggestion; but, being a tactful fellow, he was car too wise to say so.

"Splendid," he said cheerfully.
"The first girl I ever loved was called Euphrosyne, and the name will revive pleasant memories."

There was a brief silence. Then:
"We will call her Elizabeth, after my mother," said the young wife firmly.

IVANHOE HILLS IS HI STUDENTS WIN DREAMLAND OF VALLEY APPLAUSE IN DRAMA

New Subdivision Is Making Distinctive Hit on Market

"If you have never taken a jaunt over the beautiful Ivanhoe hills you don't know how wonderful our beautiful Ivanhoe homesites really are," said the manager of the Ivanhoe Realty company, 7339 Glendale boulevard, this morning. "There are hundreds of people who are tired of the long drag from the house to the office, down town. For months these people have passed on Glendale boulevard, only three miles from Broadway, the wonderfully picturesque Ivanhoe hill, which has up to this time been held in acreage as a part of the extensive Griffith estates.

"Time and again these people have thought how convenient it would be to own a home on these slopes, overlooking the wonderful San Fernando valley, Glendale and Burbank, and behind them a panorama of the Sierra Madre mountains. These people have probably even pictured a 'before breakfast' walk along the quiet waters of Silver Lake. We are glad to say that all of these things are available now. Large, well-restricted homesites may now be purchased in Ivanhoe hills. Water already is in and gas, electricity, etc., are within one day's work of the tract. The prices that are being charged for these lots include everything in the way of tract improvements.

"One trip to the Ivanhoe hills will convince anyone that the sites being offered in this tract would be hard to duplicate."

Smiles being sunshine, frowns are cloudy weather.

Work in Court Scene of Henry VIII Is Surprisingly Good

Glendale High students who formed part of the vast audience at Philharmonic auditorium Thursday morning at the Shakespearean Festival, report that the court scene from Henry VIII presented by members of the dramatic department of the Glendale school was highly creditable and was received with enthusiastic applause by the thousands who packed the big auditorium. The cast of characters included:

Trumpeter—Elden Benige.
Cardinal Wolsey—Harold Sprague.

The Scribe—Fred Terzo.
The Crier—Douglas Crum.
King Henry VIII—Robert Fry.
Queen Katherine—Doris Packer.
Cardinal Campeius—Paul Hutchinson.

The Bishop of Lincoln—William Justema.
Archbishop of Canterbury. Vergers. Bishops, Priests, Noblemen, Gentlemen, Ladies-in-waiting, represented by other members of the class.

The orchestra of Glendale High accompanied by their director, Mrs. Dora Gibson, went with the players and rendered Shakespearean numbers.

Manual Arts students presented a scene from "Pericles of Tyre"; Franklin High the comedy of "The Tempest"; Long Beach Polytechnic a scene from "Taming of the Shrew"; Los Angeles High, a scene from "Hamlet"; Lincoln High, scenes from "Midsummer Night's Dream"; Jefferson High, scenes from "Merchant of Venice"; Hollywood High, "Coriolanus"; San Fernando High, "Merry Wives

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MAJOR M. H. HALL.
Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Russell of 332 North Kenwood street have received the sad news of the death of their brother-in-law, Major H. H. Hall, who, for the past year, has resided in Richmond, Cal. He and Mrs. Hall were once missionaries in China, returning to California because of their health, and joined the Southern California conference, having pastored in many places. He was then given the chaplain's work at Fort Barracas, Florida, and later retired as major. Several years ago they lived at 324 North Verdugo road and were instrumental in building the First Methodist church. Major Hall will be buried Saturday with military honors from the Presidio, San Francisco.

HOWARD M. CARTER.
Howard M. Carter of 1359 Illinois street, Los Angeles, passed away Thursday night at his home, aged 38 years. He was a native of Palmyra, Mo. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Eva Carter. Mr. Carter had been a soldier for 18 years, and was very well-known here in Glendale. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of Pulliam & Kiefer, with interment at Grand View cemetery. The American Legion will have charge of the service.

CLARENCE D. INGRAHAM.
Clarence D. Ingraham passed away Thursday at his late residence, 1221 South Brand, at the age of 69 years. He was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and had lived at the place of death for the past 15 years. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Margaret C. Ingraham; a brother, J. E. Ingraham, vice-president of the Florida East Coast railroad, of St. Augustine, Fla., and a sister, Miss Elizabeth M. Ingraham. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Little Church of the Flowers, with Rev. C. E. Cornell officiating. L. G. Scovern Co. is in charge.

Coming events cast their shadows before them, but to see them one must live in the sunshine.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

HOUSEFOLK DO THE RESCUING

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Nobody ever needs help for very long in Tommy Peele's Woods and Fields. 'Specially not any one who comes swooping down from the sky so every one gets him—like the man in the broken airplane. He was just wondering if he could walk all the long way up Tommy's lane, with his knees still feeling so weak and wobbly, when help came to meet him.

Tad Coon and Dr. Muskrat were scuttling over from the Pond as fast as their feet could patter along. And Tommy Peele was coming on the run with his dog Watch hanging onto his coat-tail and Bobby Robin fluttering along behind, chirping louder than ever he did the time he fought Glider the Black-snake on the brush pile.

For you know Bobby had flown to the house to warn Watch of the terrible monster who had alighted in the Broad Field. And Watch had barked so very hard that Tommy knew something very startling must have happened. So he did exactly what the poor dog was telling him not to do—he went to see what it was.

He hadn't passed the straw stack before he saw the airplane's wide white wing. And he grew so excited that he yelled at the top of his lungs for his Dad to come, too. And maybe you think that aviator wasn't glad to see them! And maybe you think there wasn't as much talking as there is at a blackbird meeting in the old oak tree! He explained what had happened to him, and Mr. Peele said it was wonderful he hadn't been smashed up worse than his poor machine. Then he gave him an arm and helped him down.

Tad and Dr. Muskrat got there just about then. "Hold on, Tad," advised the paddle-paw. "Let the men-folks tend to their man, now they're here to do it. He's so very big I misdoubt we'd have had a great deal of trouble helping him,

Tad Coon and Dr. Muskrat Were Scuttling Over From the Pond as Fast as Their Feet Could Patter Along.

"Huh, Smarty, he's talking about you," smiled the old dog. "He's saying, 'How do these animals come to be so tame? That fat coon over there with the goggles on (meaning Tad's black mask) actually tried to climb into the machine. I guess I'll have to leave him in charge till I come back to haul it away.'"

GUTHRIE OFFERS NEW BARGAINS

Puts on Low Priced Lots at Practically Fifty Per Cent Discount

Charles B. Guthrie is at this time offering some of the most wonderful bargains in North Glendale residence lots. These are bounded by Eighth and Tenth streets and Irving avenue and Thompson avenue. The tract that Mr. Guthrie is now putting on the market consists of 42 lots, all of which will be sold for from $350 to $550. It is claimed that these prices are practically 50 per cent below the market at the present time.

"In connection with these lots no trade will be considered, and no commissions or terms will be given," said Mr. Guthrie this morning. "We cannot make reservations or hold any lots without a deposit. Street improvements will be put in as soon as possible and the property buyer will have ten years in which to pay at $25 per year on each lot."

The sale on these lots will start Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and no lots will be sold before that hour. Everybody knows what the northwest part of Glendale is. The ideal housebuilding qualities of that section are well known and on this account this very unusual sale will be welcomed by many of the property buyers in this section.

An irate traveler poked his head round the bedroom door in an English hotel and yelled: "I want the boots!"

A small boy in buttons appeared like a jack-in-the-box. "Surely you're not the boots?" said the hotel guest.

"No, sir," said the small boy, "I'm the socks."

"Why, you impudent little monkey, what do you mean?"

"Well, sir," said the boy, "you see, I'm under the boots."

An attendant, perspiring freely from sundry trips to the aviation field to carry gas and oil for the planes, had reached the end of his patience. "Each trip he had been delayed by inquisitive persons who bombarded him with foolish questions; Nos. 1 to 1000 inclusive. Finally an old lady stopped him. "Young man," she said, "what do you do when a machine gets up in the air and runs out of gasoline?" "Confidentially, ma'am," he replied, "that's just what has happened now. There's a couple of them stranded up in the air now, and we're just sending up emergency balloons to fetch them down!"

She (at fancy-dress ball)—"I am awfully glad you are taking me down to supper."

Delighted Pierrot—"Why—er—yes—really?"

She—"Yes. You are the only man here of whom my husband won't be jealous."

EAGLE ROCK ACTIVITIES

Eagle Rock Churches

Rev. E. Morgan Isaac will preach Sunday morning in the Congregational church on "The Awakened Soul." There will be special music. In the evening he will lecture on "The Unblazed Trail"—a message, he announces, for the man of the hour. Shall he be an imitator, or a man with initiative? Shirley Allen will sing. Sunday school and young people's meeting at the usual hours.

"What's Your Hurry—and Your Worry?" will be the question discussed by Rev. B. B. Weatherall at the morning service in the Presbyterian church. His evening subject will be "A Call for a Rising Vote. Shall We Abolish Sunday?" Good music by the choir and soloists. Sunday school at 9:30, a social half hour at 5:30, and Senior and Intermediate Christian Endeavor meetings at 6:15.

In the Methodist church, Dr. John Hedley will preach in the morning on "The Face of Jesus Christ," and in the evening on "Taking Care of Number One." The Epworth League, at 6:30, will discuss "Growing a Character." No announcements have been made by the Episcopal, Catholic and Christian Science churches.

MISS RUTH MILLER SINGS FOR 20TH CENTURY CLUB

After a short business session of the Women's Twentieth Century club Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Archibald C. Fisk, chairman of literature, introduced Mrs. William N. Goodwin, president of the Three Arts club of Los Angeles. Before beginning her interesting talk explaining the work and aims of the club, she presented one of the student members, Miss Ruth Eleanor Miller, who sang "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and an encore, accompanied by Miss Melod Scheu. Miss Miller had a voice of lovely quality, carefully trained.

The first Three Arts club, Mrs. Goodwin said, was started by Mrs. Whitelaw Reid in Paris, to make a safe and comfortable home for girls studying music, art, etc. Soon London, New York, Chicago and other cities followed the example of Paris. The first movement in that line in Los Angeles was started by Miss Margaret Goetz in 1920. A little group of interested persons met regularly once a week for a year, gaining 100 members. The organization was then perfected and a house at 1001 West Washington street was leased as a home for students who hold resident memberships. It accommodates only 15 and is full all the time. The only requirement of the residents is that they shall be serious students of some one of the arts—music, painting, drama, decorating, stage designing, posters, or any branch of commercial art. There is an outside membership of over fifty. There is quite a large art collection of pictures which have been loaned for the rooms. Every Sunday afternoon a tea, with program, is given which attracts many artistic people who have had the advantages of travel and have won success through hard work, learning lessons of much value to beginners. A much larger house will be needed next year.

Miss Miller then gave the club members present the pleasure of hearing her rendition of "When Phyllis Takes Her Vocal Lesson," and "Her Dream."

Current events being one of the topics scheduled for the day, Mrs. Emma Roach was called on and gave an account of the recent radio phone discoveries and reports from the latest information articles. The statement was made that a radio outfit may be had for less than the cost of a good phonograph.

Mrs. C. A. Kirksey, whose three sons served in the world war, made a heartfelt plea for the soldiers' bonus and scored the politicians of Washington for their conduct of this and other affairs.

On Tuesday evening, May 2, the Edison films showing the power system in the mountains of Southern California and beautiful snow scenes in the neighborhood of Huntington lake, will be shown in the Central school auditorium with a collection for the benefit of the women's clubs.

SUNRISE CIVIC CLUB IS NOW ORGANIZED

The community club organized last month at the east end of Eagle Rock has chosen a sponsonious and appropriate name—the Sunrise Civic club. The second meeting was held on Monday evening of this week and a constitution and by-laws were adopted. It was presided over by a committee consisting of Mrs. Alice Utley Jones, Mrs. C. A. Labrum, Dr. A. B. Pierce, R. L. Woodhouse, and S. A. Radcliff, and was but slightly amended. B. F. Pearson, general manager of the Southern California Edison company, acted as temporary chairman. During a recess forty-five members signed the constitution. Officers were elected as follows: President, George C. Mattison, the newly elected trustee from the East End; vice president, Francis M. Runge; secretary, Therese Radcliff; treasurer, C. A. Labrum; member at large of the executive committee, Mrs. Ethel Woodhouse.

DR. BIRD IS TO BE HONORED BY C. OF C.

President Miller of the Chamber of Commerce in his introductory address at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening, announced that the chamber intends to give a reception next month to Dr. Remsen Dubois Bird, in honor of his installation as president of Occidental College. A report made to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce by a committee of ten appointed to investigate conditions at the Union high school, was read and showed the great need of larger quarters and additional equipment. It was supplemented by a statement from E. E. Harwood, superintendent of the Eagle Rock schools, of similar import. Fully realizing the exigencies of the situation, the chamber voted to do all in its power to get people out to vote for the bonds next Tuesday. It was the motion of the meeting that Eagle Rock and the other communities of the district are equally concerned with Glendale in the building of a new high school, and that with the rapidly increasing population in all sections of the district there is no valid reason why the Glendale school should not be as good as any that exists in the county. On a motion, circulars advertising the election were ordered printed for distribution to every house in Eagle Rock, and a committee was appointed to get the voters out.

The matter of the greatly needed fire protection was discussed. A. L. McCamman expressing the conviction that another bond issue ought to be called in the near future to provide relief from the danger which is becoming a more serious menace every week as houses and stores are constantly being built. While the pressure of water in Eagle Rock is so great that fire engines would not be a necessity, there are only a few hydrants on the streets and a complete supply would cost about $20,000. A motion that a committee of five be appointed to take up the question of fire protection and investigate it was carried unanimously.

The committee which had been appointed to see the Los Angeles Railway company officials regarding their proposed two more cars put on during the morning and evening rush hours, and there was thought of running some through cars to prevent the noticeable use of Eagle Rock cars by people who might avail themselves of other lines. For some days past the company has had a man at the station and a complete supply of the cars, and the number of passengers from Glendale via the cross town cars.

The Sunset Canyon card club met last week with Mrs. George Jackson of Sunset Canyon Drive. The prize winners were Mesdames Andrews, Fillbach, Kirkman and Cummings.

Mrs. W. L. Andrews of Providence avenue will be assistant hostess Thursday to Mrs. Steve Packer of Riverdale Drive, Glendale, at a bridge party. She invited the following friends to accompany her: Mesdames George Wilson, Mrs. Ramsay, Charles Reason, E. E. Rupp, Beckner, Philip Zeiss and Miss Claytor.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Valentine of Cypress avenue, entertained a number of friends at an elaborate dinner. Included in the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Davis of Los Angeles. Dr. Davis is the president of the Dr. C. Newton Graves, Mr. and Mrs. MacMoore and Miss Margaret Ratzel, all of Los Angeles. Mr. Graves was formerly leading tenor with the Francis Wilson musical comedy.

It was Smith's first game of football, and during one of the scrimmages he was kicked on the head and pitched forward unconscious. When, after being doused with water, he at length came to, he shouted:

"Who was it kicked me on the head?"

"All right," said the referee, "it was a foul."

"Oh," said Smith, "I thought it was a mule!"

A little boy wanted to give his mother a birthday present, but did not know what to give her.

At last he decided to give her a Bible. After he had bought it he was stumped again, as he could not think what to do to inscribe on the front page.

After a good deal of thought he decided on the following, which he had seen in several books:

"To dear mother, with the author's compliments."

For the combined purpose of sociability and obtaining an advance supply of articles suited to offer sale at the bazaar to be held by the ladies of the church next autumn, an "April shower" took place in the Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon. The Sunday school room was transformed into a pretty parlor and softly lighted. To obtain entrance, one brought some gift, and was rewarded with an hour of conversation, an entertainment, and tea. Miss Foxworthy, a visitor, gave a reading, "April Shower." Mrs. C. W. Young related the legend of Eagle Rock and read several poems. Mrs. Vardaman Bailey rendered two delightful piano solos, and Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer of Pasadena, who so thoroughly directed the recent artistic performance of the Community Players, read several selections. Tea was poured by Mesdames A. C. Fisk, and R. J. Tepper.

EAGLE ROCK FOLKS START MOTOR TRIP

On Friday morning of this week, driven by A. J. Braasch, Mrs. Constance Braasch, Mrs. Aida R. Ludlow, and Miss Ethel M. Congdon, members of the Thursday Morning Music club, started on a motor trip to San Francisco, where they will attend the convention of the California Federation of Musicians.

Dr. Attwater, chiropractor, who was to have been tried in the Superior court, Los Angeles, on Monday, had his case postponed by Judge Reeve, to May 18. This was necessary because of the Burck trial which is on in the same court. The charge against Dr. Attwater is the same as that usually brought against chiropractors in this state at the present time, practicing without a license.

Dr. R. M. Attwater attended the annual convention of the Progressive Chiropractors' Association of Southern California held at the Alexandria the last of the week. He said it was an inspirational gathering and among other matters of which were brought up was the vital one of proposed legislation for the benefit of the chiropractors. A motion picture film was shown portraying the national convention held last August in Davenport, Iowa.

Tuesday evening Mrs. J. B. Watson was the hostess to a few friends at a 7 o'clock dinner. While in London recently a Dublin man, spending a holiday, sauntered into a barber shop for a shave.

When he had finished the barber handed him a check for more than the man thought he should be charged.

"He regarded it thoughtfully."

"Do you happen to know the significance of that red-and-white-striped pole in front of your shop?"

"Yes, sir," said the barber. "You see, in olden times barbers were surgeons as well as tonsorial artists. When a man had to be bled he came to a barber."

"Then whatever you do don't take down that pole!"

An attorney of Los Angeles advertised to a chauffeur. Some twenty-odd responded, and were being questioned as to qualifications, efficiency, and whether married or single. Finally, turning to a colored man, he said: "How about you, George; are you married?"

Quickly the Negro responded: "No, sir, boss, naw-sir. Ah makes mah own livin'."

It's a compensation to a sinner to feel how those who condemn him envy him.

L. OFFERS FINE PROGRAMS

Fletcher, the Christie
plans, will appear in per-tonight on the T. D. and age and offer their funville act in addition Ayres' latest feature,
"The Lane That Had No Turning,"
mes Agnes Ayres, lovely,
red and magnetic, as star
right in Paramount pic-
er first stellar vehicle,

"The Lane That Had No Turning,"
was the offering last night at the T. D. and L. theatre and was highly successful both dramatically and from a standpoint of production.
It will be shown again tonight.

On Sunday the great and thrilling under-sea story "Wet Gold"
from the famous book will be the special attraction at the T. D. and L. theatre.

Being original has a drawback,
as it looks to some people like a deadly insult.

4:00—Leave for home.

VAUDEVILLE AND FILM AT GLENDALE

The current vaudeville at the Glendale theatre tonight should prove an entertaining bill. Walker and West, "After the Show," are presenting an original comedy vehicule, which should provide a long loud laugh, intermingled with some comedy song lyrics and whirlwind dancing. Juggling Mathew, in a routine of comedy juggling and manipulation and Mille. Lingard, in her European posing novelty should prove bright spots on this bill. Hahn and Curtis, in their comedy singing and talking act, "I Wanta Pass," brings a clever pair of artists in a laugh provoking comedy offering. Rathburn Four,
a quartet of musicians in a musical melange, "Say It With Music," rounding out this well balanced bill of popular vaudeville.

"Little Miss Smiles," a William Fox production starring the ever popular Shirley Mason, will be the film attraction. It is a story of New York's lower East Side, in which Miss Mason plays the part of a little tenement heroine. Interesting customs of the East Side providing the picture with some delightful scenes.

The new Goldwyn picture coming to the Glendale theatre, for Sunday and Monday, is the Reginald Barker production, "Poverty of Riches," a photoplay version of Leroy Scott's story, "The Mother." It is a simple tale of two families, un-long friends, and the joys and sorrows that their different attitude toward the facts of life brings. One of the young husbands is ambitious for power beyond all thought of rearing a family. Their friends do not wait until they become wealthy
in order to find their happiness.
They find it in their youth in their love for each other and for their children.

A farm hand saved a train from disaster and was presented by the railway company with a gold watch
in a red morocco case.

The company's chairman at the end of an eloquent speech, handed the watch to the heroic farm hand and waited expectantly to hear the yoke's thanks.

The man opened the morocco
case, took the watch from its rich satin bed, turned it over and over and then looked up and said:
"Where's the chain?"

KATE BREW VAUGHN

IN USING VACUUM FREEZER
PEAR ICE

One and three-fourths cup sugar,
three cups water, one can pears,
one teaspoon lemon extract, one cup cream (whipped). Boil sugar and water 30 minutes, when cool add pears cut into dice, juice and extract. Pour into freezer, placing whipped cream on top. Leave for two and one-half hours.

JAM WATER ICE

One-half pound strawberry jam,
three cups water, one lemon, one-fourth cup finely granulated sugar,
few drops red color. Mix jam with water, grated rind and strained juice of lemon and sugar,
allow to boil up, add color, strain and pour into freezer. Leave for one hour.

GINGER SHERBET

Two cups sugar, two cups
water, six lemons, two oranges,
five tablespoons chopped preserved ginger, three tablespoons preserved ginger syrup. Put sugar and water into saucepan, bring to boiling point and boil ten minutes,
then set aside to cool. Add strained juice of lemons and oranges, ginger and ginger syrup. Pour into freezer and allow to stay for two hours.

For a ginger bombe line mold
with the ginger sherbet, fill center with the following mixture:
One-half cup whipped cream, one beaten white of egg, four tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon lemon extract.

RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY
PIR

Line a deep plate with a good rich crust. Mix together two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon flour. Spread this on the crust. Over this place a layer of red rhubarb cut into one-inch pieces and scatter over it one-half cup small strawberries. Mix three-fourths cup sugar with one-half cup fine sifted crumbs and add one half of this mixture to the fruit.
Place another layer of rhubarb and berries and then remainder of sugar and crumbs. Put on top crust, moistening the edges and pressing firm to under crust. Cut few holes in top and bake as usual.

BAKED TOMATOES STUFFED WITH CRAB MEAT

Cut the crab meat (using either fresh or canned) into small cubes.
Heat one cup crab meat thoroughly in one cup of white sauce. Fill fresh tomatoes, from which one-half the pulp has been removed;
cover top of each tomato with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

Cook together in a double boiler,
one cup sugar, one cup dark corn-syrup and one cup cream. Stir these well together and let cook for an hour, keeping the water in the outer part of the double boiler boiling. After an hour's cooking beat in two teaspoons butter, a little vanilla or other flavoring extract.

FROZEN RHUBARB

One quart stewed rhubarb, three cups of sugar, one cup water, few grains salt. The pink rhubarb is best (do not skin it). When thoroughly cooked, mash through a fine strainer. To the quart of strained rhubarb add the sugar, which has been boiled with one cup of water for five minutes. Add a few grains of salt to bring out the flavor.
When cold, freeze the same as sherbet. Serve in sherbet cups with whipped cream.

DAINTY PUDDING

One quart very ripe berries, two cups water, one and one-half cups sugar, pinch of salt, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-fourth cup granulated tapioca, one cup whipped cream. Cook and mash the berries through a very fine strainer. Add the sugar and salt. Boil the tapioca in the two cups of water until clear. When cold add the berry and lemon juice and freeze. Serve in ice cream glasses.

CURRENT AND RASPBERRY
PUNCH FROZEN

Two cups very ripe currants,
two cups very ripe raspberries, two cups sugar, two cups water, one-half cup orange juice. After crushing the currants put them into an agate saucepan with one cup water.
Boil for three minutes and mash through a fine strainer. Mash the raspberries, cover with one cup of cold water for ten minutes. Boil
the sugar and water for three minutes and cool. Put all in the freezer and freeze.

CHICKEN OMELET

Beat the whites of four eggs until dry; beat the yolks until colored; add to beaten yolks four tablespoons boiling water, one fourth teaspoon salt, dash of pepper and beat again. Cut and fold
the whites into the yolk mixture until thoroughly blended. Turn the mixture into a hot and buttered omelet pan and spread evenly
over the pan, and allow to stand to brown for about two minutes.
Set in oven of moderate heat to cook the top slightly. When a knife comes out nearly clean from being thrust into the center of the omelet, remove from the oven;
spread a little of a pint of hot creamed chicken over the top; cut a gash across the center of the top and fold the top nearest the handle over the other part and turn on a hot platter. Garnish with cubes of current jelly and croustons.

ORANGE SAUCE

Place one fourth teaspoon salt,
one teaspoon paprika, grated rind
of half an orange, one tablespoon water and two tablespoons lemon juice on the stove and cook until quantity is reduced one half. To half a cup of butter add the yolk
of three eggs (beating each yolk
into the butter thoroughly before adding another). Add this to the first mixture, set the dish over hot

SAGAMORE HILLS ON VERDUGO ROAD
STIRS MARKET

Four Blocks South of Colorado Boulevard It Achieves Big Sale

The new subdivision, Sagamore
Hills, located on Verdugo road
four blocks south of Colorado boulevard in Glendale, is creating quite a stir in the realty circles of Glendale. This tract was placed on the market for the first time Sunday morning and already a large number of the lots have been sold.
One of the "drawing cards" is the fact that this tract is located within the 5 cent carfare to Los Angeles, and is also a short distance from Eagle Rock.

This tract has everything that an ideal home subdivision should possess. It has beautiful winding streets, high and slightly lots, all of which are large enough for the average home owner. The prices of these lots range from $800 up,
these prices including street work,
curbing, sidewalks, electricity, gas,
water—everything that is necessary for the home. This tract is a part of the Glassell estate, which is one of the best known pieces of property in this section of the country. The center of the tract is located at Verdugo road and Glassell avenue.

This property is being put on by the Wesley Roberts company, for which Warren & Deskin, corner Colorado and Brand, are the local agents.

MAC-DRY BATTERY IS CONSIDERING AN AGENCY HERE

Many Appointments Made
to Represent Wonder Battery

"We have experienced a wonderful return from our recent advertisement inserted in the Glendale Daily Press," said Mr. Munro of the firm of Munro & Pohlman, distributors for the Mac-Dry battery and the new Master wet battery.
"We are endeavoring to get a representative in Glendale of the finest acter and power we demand. We have had a number of applicants,
but up to this time we have not selected anyone to represent us. We know we have a quality battery
that will stand up under any condition to which a battery may be put. Each battery that we turn out is the best that is possible to produce. It is a quality production and every battery is backed by a written, puncture proof guarantee.
"We are putting out two styles
of battery—a dry battery and a wet battery. Our Mac-Dry, which is fully guaranteed for three years and which requires no water whatsoever, is without doubt the finest and most fool-proof battery ever produced. You place it in your car and you forget about it. It will not corrode, fires a hotter spark, needs no attention after being placed in your car—in other words, eliminates everything in the way of battery trouble. The battery is made for every type of machine and is sold at prices that compare very favorably with any standard make wet battery.
"We also have the New Master
wet battery, which carries a 2-year guarantee. We will place
this battery against any wet battery on the market. It is a working tool, and does not know what it means to get tired.
"With these two wonderful batteries to offer the agent it is no wonder that we want the very best kind of a booster and worker to handle our wares. We offer a wonderful proposition to agents and when the right man comes along
we will snap him up and both of us will make a lot of money."

Joe Wagge called round upon his friend Hardupp and found him in a cold attic at work on a mysterious operation.

The floor was littered with books and Hardupp was bent over a big washbowl containing a soggy mass of torn book leaves and water.

"Great Scott!" cried Wagge.
"Whatever are you doing, Hardupp?"

"I'm given up trying to be an author," explained Hardupp, "and I've discovered a great substitute for coal."

"Congratulations!"
"You soak the paper in water,"
continued Hardupp, "then form it into hard balls the size of a hockey ball. Let them dry, and they burn splendidly. Think of it, old man, all my old returned manuscripts will be enough to keep my room heated through the whole winter."

"That you, dearie? I'm detained at the office on very important business and I may not be home until late. Don't sit up for me."
"I won't, dearie. You'll come home as early as you can, won't you?" And John, dear-
"Yes! What is it?"
"Please don't draw to many water and stir constantly until the mixture thickens and then add the juice of half an orange and stir and cook a moment longer.

RHUBARB PASTRIES

Cook one pound of fresh, tender rhubarb, cut in-inch pieces, with one cup of sugar in oven. Do not remove skin and use no water.
Cover small tins with plain pastry and bake in a hot oven. When cold fill with cooked rhubarb and decorate with rounds of plain or puff-paste.

With tense, drawn faces, the class in the London school wrestled with the task the teacher had set—to write a few lines introducing the phrase "a narrow shave."
Little Tommy Bright suddenly left off chewing his pen and triumphantly dashed off the following gem:
"William Tell shot at the apple on his son's head, and split it in
two. It was an arrow shave."

If a man is overbold he occasionally is bowled over.

A company of tourists were taken over the castle at Blois.
"This," said the guide, "is the room in which the Duke de Guise was murdered!"
"What's that?" interrupted a tourist. "When I came here three years ago I was told it was the room opposite."
"Ah!" said the guide, quite calmly. "This room was undergoing repairs at that time."

It is better to be lonely than bored.

A bachelor who is forever "putting his foot in it" recently visited the proud parents of a new born boy.
The mother held up the bundle
for inspection and asked gayly:
"Tell us now, frankly, which of us do you think he is like?"
After a careful examination of the baby the bachelor replied:
"Well, of course, it is not very intelligent looking yet, but he's wonderfully like both of you!"

DANCE HOUNDS WAIT ON RADIO MUSIC

Installation of Commercial Dance Co. Awaited for Thrills

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29. (United Press)—Cheek-to-cheekers are anxiously awaiting the installation of the regular commercial radiophone dance company.

Why, declare the dance hounds, should they continue to hire orchestras when there might be one central orchestra in a big city, selling dance music by the foot, the step, or the evening at so much per, the so much to be very much less than the present price of a special orchestra.

The dancers want to see the time when you can call up the branch agent, if you want to hold a little dance, order in a magnifico for the evening, and have an inexpensive trot-test.

They admit that it will be difficult to produce an encore by clapping, but declare they can do without this under the circumstances.

At present dances are being held nightly on coastwise passenger liners plying between Seattle, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, the ships being equipped with radiophones and amplifier equipment. They tap the music from several of the broadcasting stations along the coast.

Recently a train left Los Angeles equipped with radiophone, which entertained the passengers in the observation car. This innovation is not looked kindly upon by the drummers, whose conversations used to be the only form of last resort entertainment for chain travellers. The drummers now see their glory diminished.

San Francisco is considering equipping all of its tug boats, and fire boats with radiophones.

FEDERAL JUDGE IS SARCASTIC

When Defendant Pleads Guilty Bench Taunts Jurymen

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The prevalent alacrity and enthusiasm with which San Francisco juries in federal court habitually find defendants "not guilty" in Volstead act cases led Federal Judge Van Fleet to take a sarcastic judicial whack at veniement in his court.

George Lusk, charged with selling liquor, was about to be tried. A jury had just acquitted another defendant on grounds of "insufficient evidence." Just before the trial started, Lusk decided to plead guilty and accept a $500 fine.

"Gentlemen," said Judge Van Fleet turning to the jury, "this defendant by changing his plea to guilty has denied you the chance to find him not guilty. You are excused until tomorrow morning."

Cornerstone to Be Laid in Early May at Glenn Ellen

GLEN ELLEN, Calif., April 29. The corner-stone of the Jack London Memorial Library here will be laid early in May, according to present plans.

Hundreds of London's friends are expected to attend the ceremony.

LONG PRUNING SAVES

California growers have been benefited to the extent of $7,000,000 due to the extension of the long system of pruning according to figures compiled by the University of California College of Agriculture.

This system originated with the Pomology Division of the State University and through their teaching and co-operation with the Extension Division they have placed the system in practically all of the fruit growing section of the state. This system brings trees into bearing from one to three years earlier than under the old methods of pruning.

An opportunity will be given the public on Picnic Day, April 29, at the University of California Farm at Davis, to see the trees and the results of the pruning by the new system as contrasted with the old system.

Mr. Foddes had sent in a very big account for "expenses," so the head of the firm sent for him. "Mr. Foddes," said the head of the firm, "I notice that there is a considerable item for meals in your expense account."

"Er—I was entertaining customers and prospective buyers, sir," ventured Mr. Foddes. "All right," replied the boss. "I'm not complaining, but I hope you will bear in mind that we are selling motor cars, and not lady in the chorus ever buys a motor car."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

A ROSE

JAMES W. FOLEY

It might have been a fretful day.
For there was much to do,
And worries gathered in the way
They may sometimes for you,
It might have been a weary day,
Such as stern duty knows—
But in a vase upon my desk
Somebody left a rose.

I might have thought the hours were long.
With work and worry shared;
Why weave more dreamings in a song
When no one really cared?
Why send a poem in the air
To die perhaps—who knows?
But on the desk before me there,
Somebody put a rose.

I might have done my work but ill,
Just drugged the morning through.
I might have had no honest will
To strive and dream and do.
You know how fickle fancy is,
How now she comes and goes;
But someone thought a friendly thought
And left me there a rose.

And so the day is fair for me,
There is the will to sing,
Strange how much gladness there can be
In such a little thing.
A song that long I've thought to sing
May come just now—who knows?
Because somebody thought to bring
And leave me just a rose.

Mass Suggestion

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

When they speak of "mass suggestion" psychologists commonly mean the influence exercised on the mind and behavior of individuals by groups of people—people, for example, with whom they come into contact as fellow members of political parties, social clubs, labor unions, business organizations, etc. But the term may properly be extended to include the influence exercised by groups of inanimate objects as well as living beings.

And there are some exceedingly practical reasons for emphasizing the possibilities of mass suggestions of this latter kind and making them widely known. For under present conditions numerous persons—especially dwellers in cities—are being constantly and needlessly exposed to inanimate mass suggestion hurtful to them.

The meaning of suggestion itself should perhaps be recalled—"the intrusion into the mind of ideas which, being involuntarily accepted, affect behavior." Now, ideas are intruded into the mind through the various sense organs—the ear, the eye, etc. And the likelihood of their affecting behavior is usually in proportion to the frequency with which they are presented to the mind.

This is why frequent association with groups of people who have special interests or special points of view is likely to develop a similar interest or point of view in the person associating with them. On the same principle one's thought and one's behavior are likely to be profoundly affected by the kind of surroundings—the groups of inanimate objects—amid which one spends most of his time.

Hence the importance of giving serious thought to such matters as the decorating and furnishing of one's home. Hence, too, outside the home, the influence of mass suggestion ought to be reckoned with in the case of that larger group of inanimate objects, the buildings and streets which constitute the city, the town or the village in which the home is situated.

To this phase of mass suggestion it would seem that scarcely any thought is given in the majority of cases. It is true that there are many villages, some towns, and a few cities which, by their cleanliness, brightness and beauty, predominantly radiate suggestions helpful to the minds of those living in them. But this can by no means be said to be the rule.

On the contrary, ugly and depressing ideas are inevitably intruded into the mind by the architectural deficiencies, the untidy streets, the unkempt vacant lots, the grimy buildings, to be found in most places of collective human habitation.

Those who live in places thus constituted may—and in many individual instances conspicuously do—successfully resist the deadening and distorting influence of their mass suggestion. But because suggestion is of all forces the most potent in determining the ways of men, it must always remain true that citizens of mean cities tend as a rule to mean modes of thinking.

Here and there are signs that people are awakening to this truth. Ordinances having the effect of improving the appearance of a city are here and there being more vigorously enforced. Landscape architects, city planners and other workers in the field of civic aesthetics are finding their services in increasing demand.

But as yet the awakening is far from being as general as it ought to be—as it must be if the influence of inanimate mass suggestion is to be made distinctly contributory to the nation's good.

Bug-Power

By JOHN BRECK

A flea leaped from the bearskin rug where my dog basks before my fire and achieved my hand. It was as if a man should leap from the depths of a wood and board a passing airplane. Now where did he derive the power for such a prodigy of activity? The grasshopper's jump is partly comprehensible—man-built gliders can soar relatively as far as his wings once he gets a start from his brawny thighs. But the pestiferous cousin of our household fly is wingless.

Not only that; even under a microscope his spindling shanks seem entirely inadequate to transport his portly paunch at anything livelier than a slow crawl. His bald, slant-browed head with scanty bristles at the collar line and his absurd walrus moustache with his beak protruding from it like a Pittsburgh stogie give him the air of a very stupid, very indolent old man.

Indeed, intelligence is not his forte, for my flea's next spring from my averaging sap took him into the blaze. Was it the draught, fanning his bristles, and not his unobtrusive eyes which warned him? He was ashes, but his problem still remained.

Doubtless there are leverages to be gained from steel insect armour which are strange to our imaginations as the workings of our homes would be to them. Save that it cannot be repaired, the hollow strut of insect leg-joints is mechanically superior, but the muscles which work them are singularly like our own, though more exquisitely built. Can they be, like a watch-spring, more finely tempered than bulkier metal?

"If a man were as strong as a

VICE DEAN COLLINS OF BROWN COLLEGE IS HERE

Associate With Evangelist Who Held Meeting in Glendale Arrives

Dr. Franklin W. Collins, vice-dean of the John E. Brown college, of Siloam Springs, Ark., accompanied by his wife, both of whom are teachers in the college, are in the city, stopping at 243 Louise street.

Dr. Collins has had a varied and interesting career, being a lawyer, lecturer and educator. For many years he was assistant to the Attorney General in Washington, D. C., and has toured the country as a political and Chautauqua lecturer. His real hobby is child welfare, and he helped to establish the school at Siloam Springs, Ark., which John Edward Brown, the evangelist, well known in Glendale, where he held a large union tabernacle something like a year ago, founded for the training of the overlooked boys and girls of the region where educational advantages are very meager.

"Brother Brown," as he is generally known, gave all his worldly wealth, consisting of his farm, his herd of Jersey cattle, hogs, horses, implements and home, together with business property in town, to start the school, and is sending all his earnings, over his living expenses to keep it going.

Dr. Collins says that John Brown is one of the most remarkable men of his time, who has evolved from a poor Arkansas "hillbilly," who at eighteen could not have passed the third grade in school to his present place of great usefulness in the world.

Through all the years of his life from the time when as a boy of 18 he "met up" with the Salvation Army in Rogers, Ark. Brown has been dreaming of a time when he could found a school for the poor boys and girls of the hills, in whose veins flows good honest blood, but whose opportunities have been practically nil.

At last, after over twenty years of dreaming and working he came to the place of action, and determined upon seeing his dreams come true.

That he could give away all his earthly possessions, despite the fact that he has a wife and six children of his own stamps him as a man of large vision and faith, a very unusual man in fact.

"In this school, every student works his or her way, working and going to school in shifts. Every student is required to perform four hours of work daily, whether on the farm, in the carpenter shop, in the garage, the printing office, laundry, the sewing room, the laundry, the cannery, or what not, and while so working learning how to work effectively."

"We took 65 students the first year, 120 the second year, and in our third year, just closing, we have cared for 140, while we have had to turn back close to nine hundred ambitious boys and girls from lack of room and means."

"Our students have in large measure erected our buildings, they till our lands, they care for our stock, they cook and serve our meals, while they are being trained for real life."

"We believe we have put into practice the correct ideal of education, the training of the head, the hand and the heart."

"Every student is trained in the Bible—which is the world's greatest literature—though our school is interdenominational."

"The changes made in the lives of the students who have come to us have been little short of marvelous, and we expect to do our part to furnish the world with virile and well equipped men and women to face the problems of the future."

Dr. Collins declares that Glendale is one of the most delightful and picturesque cities on the American map, and growing as few cities anywhere are growing.

OPENING OF WHITE INN TO BE BIG CELEBRATION

Monday Night to Be Given Over to Reception

Things are nearly ready for the grand opening of the White Inn, hotel and cafeteria, 223 South Brand boulevard, Monday evening. Ever since the announcement was made that this establishment would soon be located on South Brand the people of Glendale have been awaiting its opening. The Monday evening will be one that will long be remembered in Glendale. There will be high class vocal and instrumental music throughout the evening, and between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock a table d'hôte dinner will be served.

"We would urge that those wishing to attend this opening make their reservations early, as the prospects are that many will be turned away. After the opening night the White Inn will maintain a cafeteria style of service exclusively. We propose to give our patrons the very best of service at the least expense."

The White Inn hotel occupies the second floor of the building at 223 twenty-two beautiful furnished rooms, modern in every detail. Several suites, with private baths, are available for occupancy by those desiring the coziness of a home with the convenient proximity to the heart of the city.

That all people do not have the same slant of humor is illustrated in the following story: One of the wealthiest men in Youngstown recently said to a friend:

"I had a funny dream last night. 'What was it all about?' the friend encouraged."

"I dreamed I got into a little Ford that climbed up a telephone pole, turned a somersault on the wires, and then slid down another pole."

"Well, that certainly was some dream."

"Yes!" the rich man exclaimed. "Imagine ME in a Ford!"

HOUSEKEEPERS TO HAVE COLLEGE COURSES

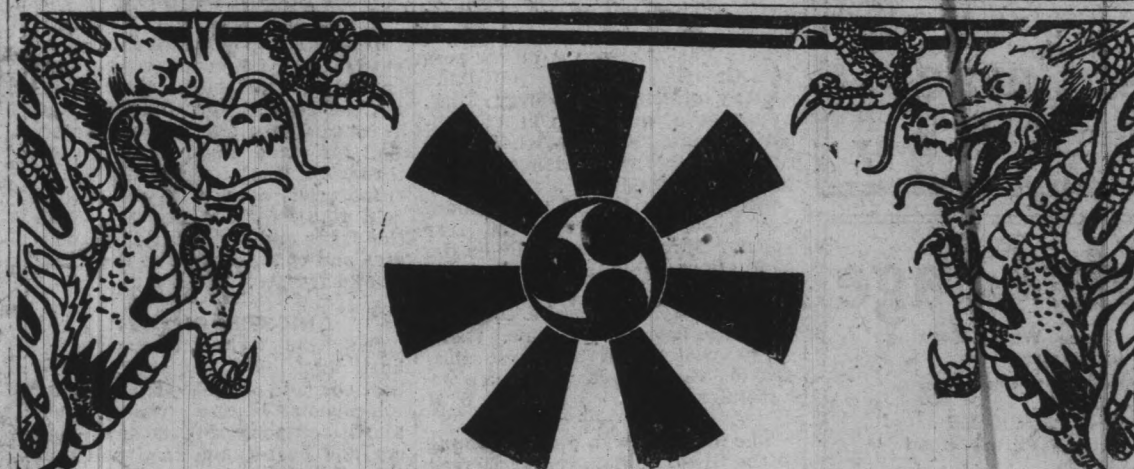

Housewife is Provided With Odd Hours in Child Psychology

Dean B. M. Woods has discovered that the Housewife's lot is at least monotonous. Therefore, at the Summer Session on Vermont avenue of the University of California will offer a variety of courses for and for those who have a few hours of leisure in the afternoons.

Here, the Housewife may intone her sorrows in the University Chorus, drown them in the swimming class, or avenge them on the earthworms in the course in gardening. For the more seriously inclined, there are courses in child psychology, juvenile delinquency, social progress and community service; and for the actually High-brow, Professor MacMinn will discuss upon the literature of the Bible, and Professor Conger of Knox College will give a teachers' course in history.

Thus may the demon Ennui be cheated of his prey. Bulletins are available, 831 Pacific Finance building, Los Angeles.
